AGREE ON CODE OF SANE SPEED FOR SPEEDY U.S.

15 to 20 in Towns, 35 Elsewhere.

The speediest people on earth are coming to their senses! That is the message of this day's work of Secretary Hoover's great conference to make life and limb safe in American streets and highways. Every essential decision made by 1,000 delegates from forty states on the model motor vehicle code that is to be state legislation next month and moderation. Every decision made "safety first," as compared with transportation, road capacity, or any other question. Safety wins in spite of determined efforts of certain delegates to increase speed limits. NATHAN W. MACCHESNEY.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(Special.)—Slow down to fifteen miles an hour in business districts, except when traffic is controlled by police or signals, to twenty miles an hour in residence districts, and to thirty-five miles an hour "under all other conditions."

That is today's message of Herbert Hoover's "to save your life conference" to state legislatures throughout the land.

Safety first won by the votes of three-fourths of the delegates and Chicagoans were their leaders.

Chief Collins Gains a Point.

At the morning session the delegates voted to raise the speed limit in business districts to twenty miles as against the model code committee's recommendation of fifteen miles.

That was done over the vehement protest of Chief of Police Morgan Collins of Chicago. After consultation, the Illinois delegation worked so rapidly that the convention upon re-assembling voted to restore the model code committee's original recommendation of a speed limit of fifteen miles in business districts, "except when traffic is controlled by police or by signals."

Coroner Wolf Scores Heavily.

Oscar Wolf, Chicago, coroner of Cook county, fought relaxed speed limits in residential and rural areas with every ounce of voice and vitality in him, and his desperate earnestness helped the weighty Collins to win the day.

"I have tried out many rates of speed in order to learn what could be saved in time as between travel at 15 miles an hour and at 25. What I find in time at the greater speed? The minutes! Gentlemen, it isn't worth it."

MacChesney Logie Helps.

Nathan W. MacChesney of Chicago came to the support of Coroner Wolf with figures which deeply impressed delegates.

"As you increase speed," said the general, "you cut down the number of cars that Sheridan road or 5th avenue will carry because you must simultaneously increase the intervals between cars. At 25 miles an hour 2,400 cars could pass a given point on Sheridan road; at 20 miles, 2,570 cars; at 15 miles, 2,500 cars; at 14 miles, 2,400 cars; and at 40 miles, only 2,080. But seriously enough when you decrease speed to 20 miles, you again saved 2,570 cars, as for 25 miles and 14 miles only 2,400 cars, as at 34 miles. Our studies show that at 22 miles you got about the maximum capacity of the road."

The Chief Handicap.

"Yes," cried Delegate Thurston of Toledo, president of the Ohio State Automobile association, "all that is true, but what we need now in this country, even more than fixing speed limits, is more honest-to-God enforcement of the limits fixed and less interference by the horns of politicians in freeing violators."

The convention was, by this time, so enthusiastic for reduced speed that it was not until 10 o'clock that the delegates adjourned.

SAM GOLDENBERG, FURNITURE MAN, AND SISTER DIE

Sam Goldenberg, secretary of the Goldenberg Furniture company, and his sister, Sarah Goldenberg, died in their rooms at the Congress hotel yesterday morning. Miss Goldenberg, who was 47 years old, had suffered a lingering illness but Mr. Goldenberg's sickness was of recent date.

Goldenberg was born April 20, 1875, on the site of one of the present Goldenberg stores at 1837-9 South State street. The firm is widely known in the furniture industry.

The brother and sister are survived by their mother, Mrs. Elsie Goldenberg, a brother, Max, head of the furniture company, and a sister, Mrs. Lena G. Berde.

A double funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel at 942 East 47th street. Interment will be at Mount Maivir cemetery.

Note of Dead Man Starts Yards Quiz

Smoldering charges involving the United States inspection departments in the Union stockyards hinge on a letter now in the possession of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, according to reports circulated yesterday.

The investigation became known two weeks ago, but was immediately hushed up, pending rumored court action. Warrants also were said to have been issued for a number of inspectors and stockyard employees said to possess knowledge of questionable transactions of large amounts. A total of $3,000,000 was mentioned in the rumors.

Lull in Investigation.

The investigation had gained much headway prior to the death of Dr. Wesley N. Neil, who had charge of federal meat and field inspection in Chicago for the federal bureau of animal industry. The death of Dr. Neil gave impetus to the investigation for a few days, but when a coroner's jury returned an open verdict regarding the doctor's death there was a lull.

Dr. Neil died from self-administered poison. The jury was unable to determine whether the poison had been taken accidentally or intentionally. It now becomes known that the jurors were in ignorance of a letter said to have been written by Dr. Neil just before his death. The police and the coroner also are said to have had no information regarding the letter.

That such a letter was in existence was reported yesterday. It was said to have been addressed to Secretary Jardine and to have contained a complete summary of the conditions then being investigated by the government, naming those responsible.

Full of Ultimate Details.

Employees of the bureau of agriculture are said to have obtained the letter in Dr. Neil's home soon after or just before the doctor's death. It was described as being full of facts, names, dates, places, and other intimate information.

Secretary Jardine, in Washington, said yesterday he had no information to impart "at this time" on the Chicago stockyards investigation.

Great secrecy attended the beginning of the investigation. This was reported to concern charges that some cattle shippers were defrauded and others enriched through the grading given their cattle.

How Fraud May Have Worked.

Unit cattle brought $1 per hundred pounds when thrown in the tank, whereas cattle fit for food would net from $60 to $80. By juggling records, it is said, unit cattle were credited to shippers whose cattle were really found fit, thereby saving the favored shippers large amounts of money. This, according to information given the government.

There was a preliminary hearing which ended in a mild rebuke to one ago attorney, who was sent to the Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

Obtained Whisky Permits.
Dodge, according to La Guardia, sent to the Atlanta prison to investigate charges against the then warden, became enamored of Mrs. Remus, and through her gained possession of $250,000 worth of whisky certificates owned by Remus. Even before his resignation, according to the New York representative, Dodge, in possession of Remus' whisky certificates and Remus' wife, was traveling around the country in violation of the Mann and Volstead acts.

Mr. Celler led off his attack with a denunciation of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, who he charged, is "reviling" District Attorney Buckner in New York because the latter has the courage to advocate a New York state referendum on prohibition.

"Wheeler and his politron league wither when the light of truth is cast upon them," asserted Mr. Celler, recalling that only recently Wheeler was commending and "fawning upon" Buckner. They want the darkness of untruth to carry out their project of prohibition hypocrisy."

Dr. Wilson's charges against past congresses as "under the domination of the rum element," according to Mr. O'Connor is an outstanding example of the "deliberate and malicious exaggeration and falsehood" which pervades the prohibition question—the greatest ever before the country—and one, he continued, that has been "debated, but not decided, by the courts and the people."

Question for the Public.
"This great problem is not going to be decided by small men, by narrow men or by demagogues," declared Mr. O'Connor. "It is not going to be solved by the clergy of the land—not by a Reverend Wilson or a Reverend Anderson—or by any prelate."
"This is a problem of government of a free people and not one principally of morals. Let the clergy stick to their pulpits and keep their hands off a question of government."

"Let us, then, gentlemen, coolly and sanely establish," he pleaded, "for the first time, I maintain, whether the people of our country do desire now the continuation of the present restrictions. Choose your weapons. If you doubt the credibility of the present straw votes, be sportsmen and provide an indisputable method of ascertaining the people's will."

DRYS MAY ASK HEARING.
If the proposed Washington demonstration of Chicago's wetness shows signs of materializing on a large scale the dry forces of the community may stage a counter demonstration.
This was indicated yesterday following rumors that the Anti-Saloon league, the church federation, or some similar organization was planning to send a delegation to the capital if the hearing for which the wets have asked is granted.

"We haven't planned anything of that kind yet," Dr. George Safford, state superintendent for the Anti-Saloon league, said, "but it will be very easy for us to do so if it appears advisable or necessary."

A telegram from Congressman A. J. Sabath encouraged the belief that the senate committee studying the Volstead law will grant the request of President A. J. Cernak of the county board for a hearing.

"Having a conference tonight on method as to what witnesses should be given preference," read the message. "Am satisfied that I will secure reasonable time for mayor's and your committee."

Cernak announced that if a delegation goes to Washington it will include officials able to present evidence of the ill effects of prohibition. Among them will be department heads from the Bridwell hospital, the coroner's office, and the county jail.

He said records from the coroner's office show an increase in deaths from alcoholism, and that institutional records prove increases in crimes due to liquor and in psychopathic cases resulting from poisonous drinks.

REMUS A GLAD SIGHT, BUT HIS HEART IS SAD

Has a List of Grievances, Mostly Against Wife.

Never in his palmy days did Yellow Kid Well even compare in sartorial splendor with the George Remus who returned to Chicago yesterday.

George, who formerly was a lawyer of prominence in these parts, didn't have a disposition to fit his exterior, however. He had three or four grievances, the first being his wife, the second being his wife, the third and fourth being his wife.

Wife and Riches Gone.
What, asks George, is the good of making four or five million dollars as a bootlegger if he has to go to the penitentiary for it and his wife goes south with the money? Not only does he claim she has appropriated all his liquor profits, but he adds that her affections have been transferred to his arch enemy, Franklin L. Dodge, former prohibition agent, who had much to do with his conviction.

"Penitentiary life wasn't so bad," he confided. "You see, I could send out for most anything I wanted, and really, my bill for the eighteen months I put in amounted to $17,000. I gave many parties there. All the comforts of the jail, and then, when liberty should be sweet, there had to be a kick in it."

Predicts Exposure of Dodge.
"They are getting wise to this fellow Dodge, though. Why, today in congress Representative Le Guardia of New York mentioned that Dodge had tried to dispose of $200,000 in whisky certificates that belong to me. The congressman wants to rip into the crookedness of prohibition, officials, and he is making no mistake in investigating Dodge."

Remus practiced law in Chicago. He had difficulties with his first wife because of Mrs. Imogene Holmes of Evanston. After his divorce he married Mrs. Holmes, cashed in all his possessions, and went to Cincinnati with $100,000.

Before long he owned practically all the distilleries in Ohio and had 147 trucks making whisky deliveries. He was in reality at the top of his new profession, the world's champion bootlegger. Then came grief—penitentiary.

Yesterday there was more grief. He had hoped to save 1,550 cases of rare old pre-war bourbon (so he termed it), but the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here ordered it destroyed.

Trusted Her Too Much.
"But nothing would have mattered if only my wife had remained true blue," he philosophized. "I trusted her so much I gave her power of attorney to dispose of my property as she saw fit. She saw fit to cheat me and divide it with Dodge. In my divorce hearing, which comes up in Indianapolis May 6, I am asking the court to make her return my property to me."

"If I get it back I'll be on easy street. Anyway, I'm going to stay in Chicago from now on. Real estate is going to be my line."

38 MEET DEATH; AMAZON RIVER SHIP BLOWS UP

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 24.—(AP)—Twenty-six passengers, the captain, second officer, first engineer, and nine members of the crew of the Brazilian river steamer Paes de Carvalho perished when the steamer sank in the Solimoes river, one of the upper forks of the Amazon, near Manaus, according to dispatches received here today. Seventy-eight passengers and several members of the crew were rescued.

Fire broke out in the steamer early in the morning of March 22. The fire originated in a mattress in a third class cabin, the occupant of which was reported to have been smoking a pipe. He attempted to throw the mattress overboard, but the flames set fire to kerosene and gasoline in this nearby. The flames spread rapidly, reaching a quantity of powder, which exploded, wrecking the steamer.

The Paes de Carvalho, a river steamer of 450 tons, was owned by the Amazon River Steamship Navigation company. Her home port was Para, Brazil.

DIVES OFF PIER IN EVANSTON; HE'S NEAR DEATH

First among the season's swimming casualties was reported yesterday as Raymond Krueger, member of the United States coast guard, was near death at the Evanston hospital. He had suffered concussion of the brain and perhaps a broken neck as the result of a dive into shallow water.

Krueger, who is 21 and whose home is in Racine, Wis., joined the coast guard last week. He and a fellow guard, William Blair, decided to go swimming yesterday in the lake at a pier in the rear of the Northwestern university buildings. Blair dived off the pier first, but made a shallow dive. Krueger followed and, thinking the lake was deep at that point, didn't take precautions. He struck bottom and was unconscious when pulled from the water by Blair.

U. S. TAX RECEIPTS SHOW BUSINESS IS ON UPGRADE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., March 24.—(Special.)—The steady expansion of commerce and industry and a generally healthy state of business again has been graphically shown, in the opinion of treasury authorities, by the latest figures on revenue receipts.

Statistics made public today disclosed that despite the uncertainty as to income tax rates that prevailed during February, the month's receipts were approximately the same as for February, 1925. Receipts last month from all sources were $98,072,347, as compared with $98,225,862 for February, 1925.

Thus far in the fiscal year 1926 the total revenue receipts from all internal sources have exceeded the corresponding receipts for the same months of the fiscal year 1925.

DITCH DIGGING CAPTURES STAGE AT LEITER TRIAL

Wyoming Reservoir That Joe Built Assailed.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

N. V. Kurtz, superintendent of water division No. 2, out Wyoming way, a man of infinite words and plentiful parentheses, talked his expensive way into the record of the Leiter lawsuit all day yesterday in Judge Denis E. Sullivan's court.

With blue prints and logarithms, Kurtz, who is a civil engineer, said that the expensive reservoir which Joseph Leiter had caused to be erected in Lake De Smet, Wyoming, may have been an architectural triumph, but was certainly an aquatic tangle.

What Was Wrong With Reservoir. The reservoir's defect, as the witness saw it, was twofold:

First, the Leiter ranch had absolutely no need for stored water, with natural water sources functioning adequately.

Second, the Wyoming statutes expressly prohibit sale of stored water, except by municipalities. And Mr. Leiter, Mr. Kurtz declared, had not even an acre foot. And Mr. Leiter is not a municipality.

Attorney Leland K. Neeves, associate counsel of Attorney Frank Scott, representing Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk and Berke, who charges her brother Joe with mismanagement of the estate of their father, Levi Z. Leiter, introduced this testimony as part of his contention that Joe Leiter's conduct of the ranch was indicative of his lax business methods.

His Verbal Flow Challenged.

Of course, the verbose Mr. Kurtz' testimony did not go unchallenged. Attorney Henry Russell Platt, counsel for Joe Leiter, produced a handful of documents and reports, all to show the Leiter ranch lands needed all the extra water they could get, and that the reservoir project was really an astute piece of engineering, foresight, and quite a godsend to a dry crop of dry July afternoon.

But by far the meaneast bit of maneuvering on the part of Mr. Platt was that first question on cross-examination when he got Mr. Kurtz, the western water expert, to admit that the initial N. in his name stood for—Noah.

Even the judge found a smile in that.

Patience Wraps the Judge.

Judge Sullivan is ever so patient. The attorneys, for all that they are some of the most distinguished members of the Chicago Bar association, do better over the production of their letters and documents. And they never do seem to agree as to just what is the number of the exhibit being marked.

Several times the judge chides them gently, and they promise to do better. As court adjourns for the day the jurist remarks prophetically, "There is a mountain road ahead of us, and you will pardon me if I seem to drive you a bit, but we must get along."

Then, too, the judge was patient with the witness of the day.

A Witness the Law Ruined.

Mr. Kurtz did his stuff admirably when it came to hydraulics and ditches and engineering data. But that course in law, which he proudly recalls having taken in the university, just about ruined him for a witness.

For when one of the counsel asked him a question he journeyed all around the proverbial Robin Hood's barn to qualify his answer, to expand it. If, for example, Attorney Neeves had asked him (and he didn't) how tall a certain tree was, he would doubtless have replied, "It's a very green tree and I've spent many interesting hours beneath it."

And if opposing counsel had queried, "Don't two and two make four?" it's a safe bet he would have slipped from

Heavy Selling Sends Stocks to New Low Levels for Year

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—

For the second time within the month stock market prices collapsed today under a wave of liquidation which came from all parts of the country, affecting securities of all sorts and driving prices of 115 securities listed on the New York Stock exchange to the lowest prices of the year.

There was a titanic rally just at the close of the market when those who had sold stocks for the decline covered their commitments, but the losses for the day ranged from 2 to 5 points in the run of stocks, with an extreme decline of 2 1/4 points in American Can and 9 1/2 in General Electric, pivotal stocks in the day's market.

Factors Causing Break. A combination of circumstances has unsettled confidence in the market, emboldened the professional bears and hurried liquidation. The factors most prominent may thus be enumerated:

The break in the market on March 2 and March 3, which left many financial cripples in its wake who have been merely "hanging on" since that time.

The "firming up" of money due to heavy government and country banking withdrawals resulting today in a rate of 5 1/2 per cent for call loans.

Announcement of an investigation of mergers of oil companies by the attorney general.

Further decline in commodity prices which has continued for nine consecutive weeks.

Orders Falling Off. Reports from the iron and steel centers that orders are not sufficient in volume to keep the plants running during April at the high price maintained in February and March.

News that there has been some curtailment in ratios of production in the automotive industry.

Since the break of early March, prices for securities have fluctuated on a narrow scale. There have been some glimpses of water, cleared his throat, turned to the judge and remarked, sagely: "Well, not exactly."

Seeks Answer, Not Lecture.

Once, when they were imploring him to give the measurements of a specific ditch and he persisted in giving an informal lecture on geology, Judge Sullivan was moved to say:

"You see, Mr. Witness, unless I get a direct answer it takes me into a swamp and I get lost. I am following the interrogatory and would like a responsive to that interrogatory."

"Try and get it," somebody murmured, and Mr. Kurtz went on his conversational sorties, being pulled back every now and then by judicial suggestions.

As a basis for his contention that the Lake De Smet reservoir was unnecessary, Noah Kurtz explained that last July—and July is a notably arid month in Wyoming—water was coursing down Clear creek at the rate of 29 cubic feet per second of time; down Piney creek at 21 feet, and through the three Platt-Ferris ditches involved in the discussion at the rate, respectively, of 24, 21, and 25.

Enough Water for Ranches.

In addition, he pointed out, ranch owners, whose appropriations for state owned irrigation water had been made after the Leiter appropriations, and who would therefore be served after them, though geographically upstream from them, were able to get their proportion of water.

Both these facts, Attorney Neeves suggested, demonstrated the foolishness of building the reservoir.

On the second big point, Joe Leiter's strong rallies, interspersed with days of weakness and irregularity. Considered as a whole, no progress has been made on the upside.

General Electric shares opened at 302 1/2, but before the first fifteen minutes of trading had elapsed the 300 mark had been broken. Then such issues as General Motors, Hudson Motors, American Can, United States Cast Iron Pipe began to crumble under the wave of selling orders.

Trading for the day on the New York Stock exchange totaled 2,647,400 shares. The average of 50 representative stocks lost 3.19. This average, which now stands at 118.02, is the lowest point the market has reached since Aug. 12, 1925.

Heaviest Losses of Day.

The sharpest losses today on the stock exchange were:

Day's Day's Year's	high.	close.	high.
American Can	302 1/2	299 1/2	344 1/2
American Brakehoe	122	117 1/2	180
All Coast Line	204	197 1/2	252 1/2
Du Pont	21 1/2	20 1/2	23 1/2
Fisher Body	22 1/2	21 1/2	25 1/2
Foundation Co.	104	98 1/2	179 1/2
General Electric	302 1/2	299 1/2	368 1/2
General Motors	125 1/2	118 1/2	131 1/2
Hudson Motors	82 1/2	82	123 1/2
Mack Trucks	115	108 1/2	159
National Tea	149 1/2	142	238
Pullman Co.	155	150 1/2	174
Republic Steel	54	51	65 1/2
Sears Roebuck	184 1/2	182	241 1/2

This question is heard in Wall street: "Does the collapse in the market of early March and the crash of the market today mean slower business this summer and fall?" Possibly the psychological effect of falling stock and commodity prices will be of considerable importance, since many business men watch the stock market for such barometric value as it may contain.

Industrial reports, however, with some few exceptions are cheerful, even optimistic.

alleged plan to sell the water, Noah Kurtz drank deep of some water, and spoke:

"I met Mr. Leiter in the irrigation season of 1923."

It sounded like the refrain of a popular song, but it wasn't.

"Mr. Leiter said he desired to sell water in his reservoir at Lake De Smet at $5 an acre foot. I asked him if he was not conversant with the fact that the waters of this state are not for sale, even as the water of the state. I told him that an individual may have a property right in an impounding capacity on the water in the ditch, but the property right of the actual water remains with the state."

Letters Friendly Enemies Now.

The noon recess comes along now. Levi Z. Leiter's three living children, whose every courtroom reaction is projected mercilessly into the limelight, met and spoke and smiled. There was a rumor, even, that Lady Suffolk, the sister who is suing Joe, and Mrs. Colin Campbell, the sister who is siding with him, kissed as they met. The rumor caused as much of a flurry in the corridor of the County building as would a report on the bourse that the French had agreed to fund the war debt.

At any rate, the three litigants are on pleasant, if perhaps wistful, speaking terms.

At the afternoon session, what with the absence of Lady Suffolk, confined to her room with a cold, and the presence on the stand of an engineer who talked technicalities, the courtroom crowd became transient, strolled in, looked, and drifted out again.

FRANCE BARS "PACIFIERS" AS FRANC DROPS

Deputies Declare They Injure Babies' Health.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright, 1926, by The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 24.—With the franc sinking in the sea of international exchange and no life savers in sight, the grave parliamentarians of France spent today arguing the merits of pacifiers for babies and eventually got around to prohibiting them as a menace to the health of the country's infants.

The franc hit a new low level of 28 francs and 67 centimes to the dollar just at the moment the chamber of deputies launched into its furious debate on the abolition of baby pacifiers. The new low mark of the franc represents the lowest level for the franc since 1924, when it went just a fraction lower.

Scored by Medical Academy.

In the chamber of deputies debate on the "suettes," as baby pacifiers are called in France, Prof. Pinard, venerable dean of the chamber, charged that the pacifiers often become frightfully dirty, and that their collection of germs endangers the babies' health. Prof. Pinard, who has been planning the attack since the first of the year, said the "suettes" is condemned unanimously by the French Academy of Medicine and blamed by modern doctors as the cause of a huge percentage of deaths among children under five years. In France any child under five years is likely to be given a "suette" to quiet his crying.

M. Durafour, minister of hygiene, gave his solemn approval of Prof. Pinard's move. The communist deputy, M. Clamamus, shouted that even the Soviets had banned the horrible toys long ago.

Pacifiers or Thumbs. The opposition was not silenced easily, however. It cried bitterly that if the child doesn't suck on a "suette" he is going to work on something else—his thumb, the corner of his blouse, a tin whistle, or even his toes. Doubt was expressed as to whether any of these objects is cleaner than the pacifier. The attention of the learned deputies was called to the theory that every child eats a peck of dirt sooner or later, anyway.

But the newer learning won, and the sale and manufacture of "suettes" was solemnly prohibited in a law to become effective three months hence. By this time it is expected that the housewives' union, already enraged by the chamber's stunts, such as the increase in the price of coffee, will protest on the ground that a "suette" in the baby's mouth keeps many a mother from nervous collapse.

While the deputies were busy proscribing the "suettes" Premier Briand was racking his brain to determine how he is going to lure these same deputies into voting for Pinard. Minister Peret's proposed increase in the business turnover tax from 1 to 2 per cent.

FIRE DEATH CALLED ACCIDENTAL.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Herman Runge, 65 years old, 388 West street, Blue Island, who suffered fatal burns from a fire in the kitchen of his home Tuesday.

HAISH KINDRED FIGHT TO BREAK HIS $800,000 WILL

One pair of red top boots, which one of them recalls having received from Jacob Haish, wealthy barbed wire maker of De Kalb, Ill., does not reconcile his relatives to his will, in which they receive nothing, while an estate, estimated at $800,000 to $900,000, goes chiefly to memorials for Jacob Haish, and his housekeeper gets his house.

So yesterday they decided to sue to break the will that was admitted to probate Monday by Judge William L. Pond at Sycamore, Ill.

"I have purposely refrained from making any bequests to any of my relatives," a clause in the will said, "for the reason that I have, from time to time, during my life, made such gifts to them as I desired them to have."

This was interpreted by Attorney J. P. Poffers yesterday in the terms of the red top boots, about which one of the relatives had told him. "None of them," the attorney elaborated, "ever got a dime."

The will left the bulk of the estate for the building and maintenance of a public library and a hospital, both to bear Jacob Haish's name, as memorials to himself. He also left money to a Masonic lodge and various employees. The majority of the relatives say Haish was blind for the latter years of his life, and that when the will was drawn, and they will charge that he was of unsound mind.

DETECTIVES GO ON TRIP TO HUNT WM. BURKHARDT

Two detectives from the office of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe left Chicago last night, one for St. Louis, Mo., the other for Springfield, Ill., to make a search for William Burkhardt, member of the Illinois commerce commission, who dropped from sight last Thursday.

Burkhardt, whose wife is a sister of former Mayor William Hale Thompson, was last seen at an interurban station in Springfield on his way to join his family in Florida. He never reached there.

Before leaving Springfield, if indeed he did leave, Burkhardt cashed a check for $1,000, according to Thompson, who expressed the fear that holdup men may have followed him and waylaid him at a convenient spot.

to say about the interrelated debts, although it was a fact that if the allies paid Great Britain on the same scale as Great Britain is paying America all the chancellor of the exchequer's troubles would vanish.

Russia owed Great Britain $800,000,000 [$4,000,000,000]. Mr. Snowden declared, France nearly 1,700,000,000 [$2,500,000,000], Italy 1,600,000,000 [$3,000,000,000], and the smaller powers about $100,000,000 [$500,000,000].

Great Britain is paying the United States $34,000,000 [$170,000,000] annually, and if a similar arrangement were made by Great Britain with its debtors it would be receiving $44,000,000 [$420,000,000] annually, leaving $10,000,000 [$200,000,000] to reduce taxation, which is equal to 11 pence in a pound.

Calls France's Record Discreditable.
France's financial record for the last few years, he declared, was one of the most discreditable in the history of international finance.

France estimated its war damage just under 13,000,000,000 [$15,000,000,000]. At an average cost it has estimated that the peasants' houses destroyed amounted to $2,275 [$11,375], in addition to which $1,170 [$5,850] each in damage to furniture contained in them. It estimated the damage to the coal mines at $10,000,000 [$50,000,000], which is more than the total capital value of the mines.

If France were paying taxation at the same rate per head as Great Britain, he said, it would be getting $340,000,000 [$1,700,000,000] annually more than at present. Before the war the total capital wealth of France was $12,000,000,000 [$60,000,000,000], and today it is not less. It has been enjoying a period of unexampled prosperity during the time Great Britain was suffering from a trade depression, and has spent enormous sums for industrial reconstruction.

Italy Also Enjoys Boom.

Italy's trade also is booming he said, but its debt settlement did not provide for the payment of a single penny of interest. The most it had to pay was about $250,000,000 [$1,250,000,000], while, if its debt was funded on the terms of the American debt, it should pay $1,500,000,000 [$7,500,000,000]. The difference between these two figures fell on the British taxpayer. Italy paid one-sixth, and Great Britain paid five-sixths, he said.

HOLDEN'S SPECIAL RELAX SHOE

Holden's Special Relax Shoes conform strictly to every condition set down by nature for the use of the feet. They are not "wild idea" shoes presenting fantastical theories foreign to the welfare of the feet. They are not a lazy shoe that neglects to provide any of the essential features.

They provide, first, an unyielding foundation underneath the entire foot, a walking base that means adequate support for each of the "abutments" and they provide a perfectly level base exactly as nature planned. They are also modeled with correct proportions, the right length in the forepart for the toes and the right length in the rear part for the long foot arch.

These three things—a rigid support, properly modeled proportions, and a perfectly level walking base—explain why Holden's Special Relax Shoes are exactly the opposite from the ordinary shoe in its functions.

GERMANY BARES FACTS DISTORTED BY CHAMBERLAIN

Publishes Notes on League Muddle.
BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Copyright, 1926, By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, March 24.—In his speech before the house of commons yesterday, Sir Austen Chamberlain gave a distorted picture of the negotiations which preceded the league of nations meeting, the German government declared today. To substantiate its assertions, it published the correspondence with the league of nations, Brazil and other powers.

An official communique stresses that the Brazilian government expressed a desire to see Germany enter the league and on that principle it had no objections to Germany obtaining a permanent seat in the council. These are the lines of Brazil's reply to a note sent by Germany asking the powers on the league council what attitude they would take if Germany applied for admittance to the league and a seat in the council. Consequently, Germany holds, the definite promise given it by Brazil was broken.

Berlin is greatly perturbed to find that Sir Austen deliberately is overlooking this fact though the full text of the Brazilian reply was known to him.

The reichstag was interrupted today by women communists, who threw leaflets from the gallery upon the deputies. The women resisted the guards who tried to eject them. The galleries were cleared after the reichstag recessed.

Chamberlain Is Ill.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, March 24.—Thanks to the loyalty of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and the Conservative party, Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain still holds his job. He made it secure yesterday by a normal Conservative majority, although ruthless use had to be made of the party whip to drive disgruntled Conservative members of parliament into the voting lobby.

Tomorrow, at a banquet a Guildhall, Sir Austen will receive the thanks of the city of London for his work in saving the Locarno treaties in the recent league of nations assembly at Geneva. A serious flaw in it all, however, is the delicate condition of Sir Austen's health.

His work at Geneva, with the disappointment over the failure of the meeting to accomplish its purpose of admitting Germany, was a great strain on the foreign secretary and he is really a sick man.

Brother Stops His Resignation.

Moreover, he knows that he has lost the confidence of his own associates and that the country feels acutely that he almost wrecked his party. It is now asserted in well informed quarters that more than half of the cabinet favored insisting on his retirement when he returned from Geneva. But his brother, Neville Chamberlain, minister of health, and a group of friends threatened to bring down the government by voting against it if Sir Austen was sacked.

Along with this threat came the report from Col. Jackson, chief Conservative agent, that he could not guarantee a victory if a general election were held now.

With these two clubs Prime Minister Baldwin was able to beat the recalcitrant cabinet members into submission.

GRAVE DIGGERS' UNION STARTS ITS ORGANIZING

William Thomas was elected president of the Cemetery Workers' union last night at a meeting in Horan's hall, Harrison and Halsted streets. Joseph Coleman, who was elected secretary, said that little has been done toward organization since the walkout of workers in five burial grounds last December, but added that a membership campaign will be begun immediately.

White Walls that stay White!

JEWEL White Enamel is especially good for kitchen walls. Only the purest white zinc, finest enamel varnish and best oil are used in it. The result is a lasting whiteness with high lustre.

JEWEL White Enamel forms a surface that is smooth, hard and non-porous. It resists dust and dirt and, even when soiled, is easily cleaned. It will stand repeated washings without losing its beautiful gloss.

Anyone can apply JEWEL Enamel. It is just as easy as painting. It works freely under the brush leaving no laps or brush marks. It is not only good for kitchen and bathroom walls but excellent for any kind of woodwork.

GOODING BILL DEFEATED, IN SENATE

Party Lines Disa

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 24.—Chicago and other anti-commercial interests won a victory today when the Senate defeated the Gooding bill by a vote of 33 to 46. The vote was 33 to 46. The bill included provisions for the middle west to enact competition of waterways through the Panama Canal.

Would Make Ruling.
Effect of the decision would have been to make the recent decision of the Supreme Court voiding the Gooding bill to reduce their rates from the middle west to the Pacific coast rates to the Pacific middle west to enact competition of waterways through the Panama Canal.

The main support for the bill came from the Senate so-called intermountain states, publicans and Democrats and members from states Mississippi valley.

Gooding to Keep Up.
"Come what may, the on" Senator Gooding (D., Ill.) author of the bill, declared minutes of the debate.

The senator charged the interests in the country with oversteering, declared that a bill would give merely a new lease of life to the intermountain country, referred again to "great of criminals in Chicago."

"I am trying to protect waterway transportation Gooding asserted in his first speech in the Senate. He opposed the bill "as economic sound in that it violates mental and common sense sound business by preventing employment of all the agencies of the distribution system."

How Public Is Best.
The public interest is when all lines, rail and water, are used to their fullest capacity. It is most injured when transportation is limited to one or two by excluding competing lines, rail or water.

"There is neither rhyme nor reason in the people of coast to water transportation western markets."

"We oppose this bill because it transfers the power from the interstate commission to the floor. The rate structure is so complex and demands such technical knowledge."

GOODING BILL IS DEFEATED, 46-33, IN SENATE VOTE

Party Lines Disappear to Beat Measure.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 24.—(Special.)—Chicago and other middle west commercial interests won a decisive victory today when the Gooding bill was defeated in the senate.

The vote was 33 to 46. Those voting for the bill included eighteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats.

Against the bill were thirty Republicans, fifteen Democrats and one Farmer-labor member.

By this action the senate declined to approve the interstate commerce commission of discretionary power to regulate transcontinental railroads to make rates to the Pacific coast from the middle west to enable them to meet competition of water lines operating through the Panama canal.

World Make Ruling Permanent. Effect of the legislation, if passed, would have been to make permanent the recent decision of the commission regarding the transcontinental lines to reduce their rates from Chicago and the middle west to Pacific coast points to meet boat competition.

Defeat of the bill leaves the commission free to permit departures from the long and short haul provision of the law when it determines that evidence has been submitted that justifies such departures.

The main support for the Gooding bill came from the senators from the so-called intermountain states, the Republican and Democratic "radicals," and members from states in the lower Mississippi valley.

Gooding to Keep Up Fight. "Come what may, the fight will go on," Senator Gooding (Rep., Idaho) author of the bill, declared in the last minutes of the debate.

The senator charged that selfish interests in the country were working overtime, declared that a vote for the bill would give merely a square deal to the intermountain country, and referred again to "great organizations of criminals in Chicago."

"I am trying to protect and save waterway transportation," Senator Gooding asserted in his final plea.

Senator Fess (Rep., O.) declared he opposed the bill "as economically unsound in that it violates the most elemental and common sense principle of sound business by preventing the employment of all the agencies of transportation in the distribution of production."

How Public Is Best Served. "The public interest is best served when all lines, rail and water, are used to their fullest capacity," he said. "It is most injured when transportation is limited to one or more lines by excluding competing lines, whether rail or water."

"There is neither rhyme nor reason in confining the people of the Pacific coast to water transportation to the western markets."

"We oppose this bill because it proposes to transfer the rate making power from the interstate commerce commission to the floor of congress. The rate structure is so complicated and demands such technical ability

POLITICAL NOTES

The United Republican War Veterans' League of Illinois, headed by Hamlet C. Ridgway, yesterday endorsed Senator McKinley. The endorsement was based on Senator McKinley's activities on veterans' claims and for veteran relief legislation.

Additional filings for the Municipal court yesterday, the last day for filing nominating petitions, included three women on the Progressive ticket: Nellie McNamara, Alice M. McClanahan, and Olive R. Rube.

Senator Lupton (Rep., Wis.), is billed to speak at a banquet to be given Sunday night by the Greek-American Republican club for Senator William B. McKinley at the La Salle hotel. More than 1,000 Greeks will be present, according to Paul Demos.

William F. Cline, independent Republican candidate for sanitary district trustee, opened headquarters yesterday in room 308, Sherman hotel. Mr. Cline is an electrical contractor residing in the 46th ward. His campaign will be managed by Mrs. E. R. Fink and Earl O'Neal.

Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican candidate for congress in the Ninth district, will speak at Prudential hall tonight to answer Britten's charges from the same platform a week ago that she is trying to buy his seat in congress.

Women of the Ninth congressional district will give a tea in honor of Mrs. Baur Saturday afternoon at the Illinois Republican Women's club rooms, 333 North Michigan avenue.

State Representative George Williston, Republican candidate for state senator in the 31st district against Senator Haensch, charged yesterday that the Lincoln park pay roll has been loaded down until it groans in an effort by the Lundin-Smith machine to return Haensch to the senate.

Occurrences of the last ten days in Europe "have exploded the falsehood that the world court is an independent body," Frank L. Smith, G. O. P. candidate for United States senator, told a gathering of women at Rockford last night.

and skill that a body of experts, trained and appointed for the service, will insure the public weal beyond what could be expected from a body of politicians."

Calls It False Measure. Senator Fess said he opposed the bill because "it is a false measure, urged as an alleged benefit to a small portion of our people at the expense of all the rest."

"This measure, if enacted, would, in the end, prove hurtful to the very people for whom it is now urged," he declared.

"We resist this proposal because it is against the best interests of all the people, and it is not a benefit to any of the people. It is against the people on the seaboard—both Atlantic and Pacific. It is against the best interests of the lake cities and the tributaries thereto, and it also cripples the centers of the south. It would obstruct the growth of the great middle west and would not help the people in the intermountain country."

Senator Lupton (Rep., Wis.), opposing the bill, declared it was queer that the "friends of the waterways" were in the intermountain country, where there were no waterways.

ANTI-CIGARET LEAGUE MEETS. Peter A. Mortenson, former superintendent of city schools, presided yesterday at the annual meeting of the Boys' International Anti-Cigaret League at the Hotel Sherman.

Dr. W. J. Hickson, director of the psychopathic laboratory at the Municipal court, was the principal speaker.

CROWE MEN LAM HIGH HATS IN WAR TO RULE POLLS

McKinley Votes Are Put Up to Ward Chiefs.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

To add confusion to the prevailing complexity of local politics, the lid blew off with a bang last night and spread havoc and joy in its flight. Here's what happened:

1. To mark its sample ballots for either candidate for United States senator. The world court issue was shown to have run away with the campaign to such an extent that many ward leaders said it put them in a leaky boat to lam the court in one breath and urge the reelection of Senator William B. McKinley in the next. It is now up to the ward organizations individually to decide whether to mark for McKinley or Frank L. Smith, or none at all.

2. Tidings came out that the Deneen group has been given the Republican judges and clerks of election in 48 of the 50 wards. The Crowe-Barrett men get only two.

3. The Democrats break into the 5. mêlée with a cry that in Hyde Park a bi-partisan hookup has been made between the Deneenites and the O'Connell-Dunne-Harrison-Lewis Democrats, whereby all judges and clerks in the Fourth ward are under Deneen control.

4. Crowe-Barrett leaders in a sizzling statement ask what license the Deneenites have to wear the high hat and long coat in view of their lineup with Fred Lundin and Gov. Small. They ask Daniel F. Trude, Deneen candidate for county judge, whether he will allow the appointment as judges and clerks of convicted felons.

Some Help for McKinley. However, some of the observant argued that McKinley will find compensating works in the attitude of the Deneen camp. They argue that whatever losses he may sustain through lack of sample markings by some of the Crowe-Barrett ward committeemen, he will perhaps more than offset by gains among the Deneen-Lundin-Smith lineup.

The Crowe-Barrett leaders have been credited as pro-McKinley. To preserve peace within the family, apparently, the decision was reached to give the ward leaders a chance to let conscience be their guide on the matter of senatorship endorsements.

The Deneen-Lundin group so far has remained neutral on the senatorship. But it has been expected to line up eventually for McKinley in the main. Senator Deneen is quoted by two Washington correspondents as having told them he would support McKinley.

On the home grounds, however, the idea among the Deneenites has been that support would depend upon how far the McKinley camp would help Crowe-Barrett finance the manning of the polls, an item which incidentally would aid the Crowe-Barrett ticket.

With things as they stand, the belief was prevalent among the talent that the Deneen group will now be in a warmer mood towards McKinley—and they now have the Republican election machinery in forty-eight wards, which is in no sense a mere bagatelle.

The new bi-party hookup—Deneen-O'Connell-Dunne-Harrison-Lewis—was charged by Joseph P. Geary, democratic committeeman from the Fourth ward.

"The O'Connell crowd," he said, "gets the Democratic judges and clerks in the Fourth ward, and has turned them over to the Deneen outfit. In some instances Deneen Republicans have been put in as Democratic judges and clerks."

A Slam at Trude. On top of all this, the Crowe-Barrett committee fired a broadside of questions at Judge Daniel F. Trude, Deneen candidate for county judge.

"The gentleman running for county judge on the Small-Deneen-Lundin ticket," it said, "is spending much time decrying the alleged fact that at the election of April 7, 1925, over 50,000 votes were stolen."

"He lays the blame for the alleged dishonesty upon the judges and clerks of election."

"Is he aware that the Small-Deneen-Lundin organization, which is backing his candidacy, recommended to the county judge over 80 per cent of the Republican judges and clerks who served at that election?"

"Is it the intention of the Small-Lundin candidate for county judge, if elected, to allow the Small-Lundin faction to recommend the Republican judges and clerks that he appoints?"

"In the 27th ward, will he allow his leader, Van Lent, to appoint as judges and clerks, ex-convicts that Small pardons for him?"

"Does he intend in the 25th ward to allow his leader, Diamond Joe, to appoint the judges and clerks, as he did at the election of April 7, 1925?"

"If he is interested in protecting the ballot and having an honest election, does not he believe that the surest way to bring that end about is not to let the Small-Lundin-Deneen faction appoint any judges or clerks of election?"

GIRL OF 14 REPORTED MISSING. The Hudson avenue police last night were asked to search for Clara Beckius, 14 years old, 425 Center street, who has been missing from her home since Saturday.

FIX CODE OF SAFE AND SANE SPEED FOR FAST NATION

to Chicago Arguments.

A Colorado delegate was jeered when he proposed twenty-eight miles an hour in residence districts.

Both in tactics of debate and in addresses Chicago won the honors of the day. In a memorable address John Hertz, Chicago, chief of the Yellow Taxi company, said:

"We are living in a motor age. And we must have not only motor age education, but a motor age sense of responsibility. We must have laws—sane, sensible, humane laws—looking far into the future. But we must also have an aroused and acute public conscience."

"There is a new code of courtesy and civility that we can—we must—build up among motorists and pedestrians, for—and this is the life-saver—fortunately the majority are willing to cooperate with what they really understand and feel to be right."

"But if we try to make completely foolproof laws I fear we shall frustrate our purpose. That would discourage fulfillment of the law, which is even more important than the law itself."

"On one point I am hopeless. I have no hope that any law is going to make existence wholly safe for the joy walker or the person who dashes across the street in the middle of the block."

AUTO DEATH TOLL REACHES 174 AS PEDESTRIAN DIES

The Cook county motor death toll was raised to 174 for the eighty-three days of 1926, with the death yesterday of Calles Curry, colored, 39 years old, who died in the county hospital of injuries suffered Sunday while crossing at Harrison and Paulina streets. The driver of the automobile failed to stop after the accident. A coroner's jury recommended that Raymond Kiewer, 1902 North Leavitt street, a taxi driver, be held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Sarah Curran, 35 years old, 222 Willow street, who was killed by Kiewer's car on March 2.

CAINES NOW CHARGE MISS INEZ OSBORNE WITH BURGLARY, TOO

Charges of burglary, in addition to those of assault with intent to kill, were placed yesterday against Miss Inez Osborne, 30 years old, who beat Mrs. Beatrice Caine over the head with a golf club a few days ago, because, as she said, Mrs. Caine refused to give up her husband, James, department manager for the American Can company, so that she, Miss Osborne, could marry him. The beating occurred in the Caine flat, 5943 Winthrop avenue.

It did not seem that Caine was so much interested in the young woman's plight when Judge Frank M. Padden raised her bonds from $2,500 to $7,500 and set $2,500 additional bonds as proper on the burglary charge.

Caine kept his right arm around the shoulders of Mrs. Caine, just as they had been when he came into the courtroom.

Women Demand Law Barring Santa Claus

Vancouver, B. C., March 24.—(AP)—The Vancouver city council and the Vancouver Retail Merchants' association were confronted today with a resolution passed by the Vancouver Parent-Teacher association asking that impersonations of Santa Claus be discontinued. Disillusionment of children, when promises made by the jolly saint in department stores remain unfulfilled on Christmas day, was given as the reason.

"There is a new code of courtesy and civility that we can—we must—build up among motorists and pedestrians, for—and this is the life-saver—fortunately the majority are willing to cooperate with what they really understand and feel to be right."

FRANCE DISPOSED TO WEIGH KRIM'S NEW PEACE PLAN

PARIS, March 24.—(U. N.)—An offer of peace, accompanied by the declaration that should peace be refused, he is ready for many years of Moroccan war, has been received at the French foreign office from Abdel Krim, the Rifian leader. Krim's offer was contained in a letter delivered through a British emissary.

The rebel chieftain reaffirms his demand for autonomy, but intimates his willingness to drop his claims as far as the city of Tetuan is concerned.

While 300,000 soldiers compose the combined Franco-Spanish armies opposing Abdel Krim and his 40,000 men, there is a spirit in France which demands that the peace offer of the Rifian chieftain be given most serious consideration. It has reached Paris when the nation, burdened with financial problems, is little able to shoulder a heavier financial war burden in Morocco.

CHINESE CHIEFS FLEE TO FOREIGN ENVOYS' HAVEN

PEKING, March 24.—The exodus of influential Chinese into the legation quarter is increasing. The latest arrivals include Chih Tey-yao, premier and minister of war, who, with Provisional President Tuan Chi-jui, was condemned by a student mass meeting as a national traitor and tool of the imperialistic powers. Piles of sandbags now inclose the president's residence.

The radical students held a further demonstration today at the state funeral for the student rioters slain by the cabinet guard about a week ago. They were killed while protesting against the ultimatum of the Borer treaty powers, demanding China open the Pei-ho river to foreign shipping.

The tenseness is accentuated by the determination of Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, commander of the Kuominchun (national army), to retain control of Peking.

Famous Library Bureau Quality

Globe-Wernicke and Library Bureau, the two leading office furniture firms of Chicago, have been merged under single control. To complete the merger it is necessary to reduce inventories of stocks on hand and cut down duplication between the two lines to the amount of $125,000. Immediate disposal and quick sacrifice are the order of the day. Never before and probably never again will such an opportunity arise to buy office furniture of known famous quality at these ridiculously low prices. Stores, offices, business men and purchasing agents are advised to act at once and anticipate May requirements, as it will not take long to dispose of our overstock at these prices. The items shown below are just a few of the hundreds of wonderful values to be obtained.

$50,000 SHORT; ACTRESS, RIVAL SUITORS MISSING

Police Seek Bank Teller and Broker's Clerk.

Two young men and a beautiful blonde girl—familiar figures around the wheat pit—are missing, the men about $50,000 short in their accounts. Police and agents for the bonding companies are trying to find out what it's all about.

Joseph Morrison, 32 year old paying teller for the Bankers' State bank at 400 East 47th street, is one of the missing men. J. L. (Chico) Schneider, a broker's clerk, said to have dropped from sight, leaving his accounts at several Board of Trade concerns about $20,000 short, is the second.

And Miss Florence Lee, actress with blonde hair is the missing young woman.

Their Lives Offer Puzzle.

All three lived until about a week ago at 1047 Leland avenue, and the conflicting accounts of their activities, social and business, last night had the police and the insurance agents guessing.

All that Sergt. Storms and Goldsime of the Wabash avenue station were able to make sure of apparently was that the money went down the wind by way of the wheat pit, all three of the missing ones taking flyers there. What they wanted to know in addition was this:

Did the two men vie with each other at stealing their employers' funds to supply the whims and wants of the beautiful Florence, each trying to outdo the other in a supply of funds with which to retain her favors and affections?

Did the two men steal to supply the money for a tri-partnership of themselves and the woman in an attempt to beat the grain market? Or did one or both the men send the young woman into the pit to gamble in an effort to win back what they had lost, so they might face their employers, confess, and make good the money they were short?

Any of Theories Equally Good.

It seemed a tussle and the investigators were unwilling to guess what the actual circumstances were.

Morrison has a wife in Canada, and, according to bank officials, was first to meet the blonde Florence and to seek her favor. This gained, the agents said, Morrison introduced Schneider—and thus the rivalry began.

On March 15 Morrison's accounts were examined and found to be $5 short. That little shortage led to the discovery of his "system"—and yesterday the officials had discovered $11,000 gone and they still were discovering.

In the meantime, Schneider either had given Miss Lee considerable money or had lost in several heavy ventures himself, for he, too, found it necessary to drop suddenly from sight.

Walter Tells Another Version.

From Charles Fixner, waiter, living at 119 West Van Buren street, comes another version. Fixner said he had met the three in the offices of R. W. Hall & Co., through which they traded.

"Well," Fixner said, "at first Morrison, the teller, used to be hanging around trying to corner the market or something. I told him he couldn't beat it—said I'd got gray trying—and he finally said he guessed that was right."

"Then he sent this stately blonde down. She always hoped to make a killing so she could buy some real swell clothes. She bought wheat at $1.85 and they sold her out finally at $1.54."

At the Leland avenue address a woman recalled Morrison and Miss Lee, but not Schneider.

"This couple," she said, referring to Morrison and the girl, "lived here for some time. They seemed quiet people. I thought she was working."

"Two days before they moved they quarreled and he beat her."

WHAT SKINNY MEN OUGHT TO KNOW

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitamins than any food you can get. You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar-coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of real healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong ask Owl Drug Co. or any drugist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your drugist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 30 days.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

SUBMARINE V-2 DIVES 220 FEET IN INITIAL TEST

Portsmouth, N. H., March 24.—(AP)—The giant submarine V-2 returned to the navy yard here tonight, having navigated at 220 feet, a record depth for vessels of her class. Her commanding officer reported that the submergence test, conducted off Provincetown today, had been extremely successful and that the submarine acted perfectly. The only casualty was a bursted pipe, which collapsed under the heavy pressure.

The depth attained today will not again be required of the submarine, for navy regulations forbid going more than 100 feet or so beneath the surface. Today's was the supreme test.

LIQUOR ISSUE, NOT CANDIDATE, CRUX IN PENNSYLVANIA

Pepper and Pinchot Split Drys; Vare Is Alone.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Harrisburg, Pa., March 24.—[Special.]—Discussing the rebellion against prohibition which pervades the Republican primary contest being waged in Pennsylvania, a Republican leader for whose judgment I have profound respect made this significant remark to me today:

"Personalities are not counting for much. If anything, in this fight, there is no enthusiasm for any one of the three candidates for United States senator. Each is viewed as merely a means to an end. Those who want beer and wine are going to vote for Bill Vare because he promises to help get beer and wine restored. The drys will vote for either Pepper or Pinchot because they are for retention of the present prohibition law."

What Pinchot Hopes For.

Gov. Pinchot believes that with the Republican organization divided between Vare and Pepper it should not be difficult for him to win the nomination with the support of the W. C. T. U. and other dry forces, the anthracite miners, whose 250,000 votes their leaders have promised him in return for his help in the strike settlement negotiations, and the plain people generally, whose interests he has championed in fighting special privilege at the state capital.

To Congressman Vare it looks like a walkaway for him with the wets of his own halliwick, Philadelphia, and of Pittsburgh and other cities solidly behind him and the drys split between Pepper and Pinchot.

Senator Pepper, though unable to point to any division of his opposition, professes confidence of victory with the support of the better elements of the citizenship and the substantial interests of the state. He has the backing of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon and his nephew, W. L. Mellon of Pittsburgh, Senator David A. Reed, the Pennsylvania railroad, and the powerful Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, headed by Joe Grundy.

Pillar of the Church.

Senator Pepper is a pillar of the church, a scholar, a polished gentleman, and a lawyer of renown. Though he expects to receive the bulk of the dry vote, he is soft peddling the prohibition issue just now, presumably from fear of driving more of his wet friends in the Republican organization over to Vare. He has ignored a challenge by Pinchot to say whether he favors light wine and beer, while the Methodist Preachers' association has endorsed Pepper because he is against light wine and beer.

Each of the three candidates is busily engaged in lambasting the other two. But there is one chorus in which they all eagerly join. They are each and every one for Calvin Coolidge. Each and every one wishes it understood to begin with that he indorses the Coolidge administration.

Coolidge Writes Pinchot.

When Gov. Pinchot prefaced his campaign announcement with that declaration, the President was so impressed that he wrote the governor a card of thanks. But all the anti-Pinchot people snorted with disgust, asserting that the governor has sought persistently to discredit the Coolidge administration, that he aspired to oppose Coolidge in the 1924 convention, and that he will be up to the same trick in 1928 if allowed to get into the senate and thereby enhance his prestige.

The old guard leaders do not think Pinchot can win, but they are not making any predictions at this writing. They thought they had him hooked for governor four years ago, but he fooled them. But at that time he had Joe Grundy with him and others of the old Pennrose machine, which went to pieces after the death of the boss. His campaign manager in that fight has left him and is out for Pepper, as have many of the women political leaders.

There is a marked division of opinion on the Pinchot régime. The governor and his friends regard his administration as a crusade against entrenched powers of evil that has been largely successful. His enemies picture him as a quixotic tilter at windmills whose measures have been wholly impractical and have been in worse plight than before.

The governor glories in the fighting he has been through and treasures the hatred of the Republican organization as a testimonial of his devotion to the public interests as a rich man under no obligations to any one. He came to Harrisburg to clean out the capitol and he thinks he has done a pretty fair job of it, though far from complete.

Last January the governor called the legislature into extra session to enact numerous reforms. It was a battle between the organization and the governor from the start to finish and only four of his 36 bills were passed.

He has just issued a pamphlet letting the legislators who voted against his bills and calling on the people to defeat them for renomination in the coming primary.

One of the bills he got through is designed to break up the illicit alcohol trade center in Philadelphia, the only trade centering in Philadelphia, the only result, according to his critics, being the transfer of the business to New Jersey.

MATTEOTTI JURY SENDS 3 TO SHORT PRISON TERMS

Frees 2 of Charge of Killing Socialist Leader.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
Copyright, 1926, By The Chicago Tribune.

CHIETI, Italy, March 24.—Amerigo Dumini, Amelio Proverano, and Albino Volpi must serve two months and six days more in prison for the death of the Socialist deputy, Giacomo Matteotti, whom they kidnaped June 10, 1924. His body was found in a shallow grave two months later.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of accidental homicide, accepting the defense plea that he died of unintentional injuries inflicted by the abductors. The sentence of the court was five years, eleven months, and twenty days for accidental murder, with extenuating circumstances. From this sentence four years is immediately deducted under the amnesty declared at King Victor Emmanuel's jubilee.

The time already served—one year, nine months, fourteen days—also is deducted, leaving the accused a short period to remain behind the bars.

Must Pay Matteotti Family.
The accused also must pay damages to the family of Deputy Matteotti.

Two other defendants, Viola and Malacra, were exonerated by the jury. The jurors rejected all contentions of the prosecution, while they upheld all the defense pleas except one subordinate one. It was a grand victory for fascism.

Roberto Farinacci, Fascist secretary general, and a defense attorney, in his closing plea to the jury, devoted himself principally to the political aspects of the case.

"If the procedure permitted," he said, "I should be in court as a representative of my party, which through long months was atrociously libeled by those who, in this trial, must be regarded as the real accused, namely: those in opposition to the government and to fascism."

Attacks Matteotti Role.
Sig. Farinacci pointed out that evidence in the trial had shown Sig. Matteotti committed sabotage against the government, that he had insulted Gabriele d'Annunzio, the poet-patriot, and that his followers had murdered the sons of the finest families of the Riviera district.

"Jurymen of Chieti," he concluded, "I demand no clemency. With my head high, I say, do your duty. You may wonder at our courage in that we have forgotten our legitimate party reaction to the sacrifices which we bore in the opposition's campaign. Sig. Casellini and the sixty-two other 'blackshirts' who were murdered during one year are terrible proofs. Do your duty with serene minds."

Sig. Farinacci told the court he had received many threatening letters during the last week, but that they had failed to disturb him.

MANY INDORSE WORK OF CHAS. V. BARRETT AS COUNTY REVIEWER

County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett, Republican candidate for renomination, has endorsements from leading lawyers, bankers, and business men. They include Attorney Charles S. Cutting, former Probate Judge, and Joseph R. Noel, president of the Noel State bank and former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"From my own experience I know how welcome to a public officer is a word of commendation when adverse criticism for political reasons is so plentiful," Mr. Cutting wrote.

"From a somewhat extended experience I have found the board of review, over which you have the honor to preside, an official body exceptionally efficient, careful, and fair in its dealings with a most perplexing and in many cases absurd system of raising the revenue."

"Your personal candidacy for reelection, in view of your experience and proficiency in this work, meets with my approval, and I am writing this letter to assure you that I shall be pleased to see you renominated and reelected."

"I believe you have given honest, intelligent, and faithful service in your difficult and responsible position and should be returned to office," Mr. Noel said.

ERBSTEIN BACK FROM EUROPE WITH A VALET

Charles E. Erbstein of divorce law and radio fame, came home from Europe yesterday with five solutions to the American servant problem, with some merry—but throat parching—ideas about what the continental think of prohibition, and with ridicule for the Paris divorce for rich Americans.

To relieve at once the suspense of such housewives as cannot find one solution, let alone five, to the puzzle over servants, it may be told that Mr. Erbstein has brought with him four German maid from Dresden—Dresden dolls he called them—and a valet, Kurt Klapper from Berlin.

The girls stared with awe at the great new Union station, and no doubt Kurt would have also, but he was too busy restraining Zoujou, an ambitious poodle purchased by Mr. Erbstein in Paris for his two children, Olivia and Charlene.

Mr. Erbstein was abroad six months.

accompanied by his wife and the children. They sauntered about the capitals of Europe, the divorce lawyer said, leisurely touring England, Germany, France, Spain, Switzerland and Italy.

"Prohibition? It never will be pushed into Europe," Mr. Erbstein opined. "Take away the Frenchman's beer and wine and there'll be another war. As for Germany—well, I met a German in Berlin, and asked him what he thought of prohibition, and he replied that the German's beer was the only thing he didn't lose in the war. They couldn't take away that without killing all the natives," he said.

The French divorce for Americans is expensive and useless, the American brand being obtained handily and at a much lower price, Mr. Erbstein said.

"In Paris you pay an American lawyer $25,000 or $50,000 for one of those silent and swift divorces," he pointed out, "and he gets a French lawyer to put it through for the rich client from overseas, paying the Frenchman about 200 francs. American lawyers are not permitted to practice before the French bar."

BARRETT B LOW TAX ON CLUMS

Economic conditions changes in property tax rapidly for Illinois system, Charles V. Barrett, of the board of review, said today.

Inequalities in tax not be satisfactorily adjusted in the interim between assessments, he said. Published reports of the board of review show the Cooperative day created some wrong about tax matters, Mr. Barrett said. Mayor Dever when Mr. Barrett was quoted as saying that the program would be still if the board of review seriously the content groups as firemen, school policemen on tax adjustment.

Peril to Building

"As a matter of fact review gave serious concern to all of these organizations," Mr. Barrett said. "If the board should place a valuation in Chicago approaching the real market, it would have us out of business in a very short time. It is still all of the great business in progress in Chicago. At the end of 1925 the value of the board of review was approximately $150,000,000, as against the total of 1924. The hope of these bodies increase the tax rate, but in spite of the increase we found that to be increased 7 or 8 per cent."

Revaluations Are F
"A great deal of property greatly enhanced in value three years ago. The next assessment is in 1927, and which time all property without notice. If this is the current year it is necessary to notify property owners of any increase could be a great deal of property."

1925, we will review as the inequalities as the time board will permit. The come any and all information from the city of education or any other division."

BARRETT BLAMES LOW TAX VALUES ON CLUMSY LAW

Economic conditions which make big changes in property values operate so rapidly for Illinois' clumsy tax system, Charles V. Barrett, chairman of the board of review, declared yesterday.

Inequalities in tax valuations cannot be satisfactorily adjusted during the interim between quadrennial assessments, he said.

Published reports of his speech before the Cooperative club last Tuesday created some wrong impressions about tax matters, Mr. Barrett declared, even drawing comment from Mayor Dever when Mr. Barrett was quoted as saying that Chicago's building program would come to a standstill if the board of review regarded seriously the contentions of such groups as firemen, school teachers, and policemen on tax adjustments.

Fertile to Building Seen.

As a matter of fact, the board of review gave serious consideration to all of these organizations at all times," Mr. Barrett said. "What I did say was this: If the board of review should place a valuation on real estate in Chicago approximating or approaching real market value, as some would have us do, we would thereby in a very short time bring to a standstill all of the great building program now in progress in Chicago.

"At the end of 1925 the board of review and the board of assessors added approximately $150,000,000 in valuations to the total of 1924, and it was the hope of these bodies that with that increase the tax rate might be reduced, but in spite of this large increase we found that the rate had to be increased 7 or 8 per cent.

Revaluations Are Promised.

"A great deal of property has been greatly enhanced in value in the last three years. The next quadrennial assessment is in 1927 under the law, at which time all property will be valued without notice. If this were done during the current year it would be necessary to notify property owners before increases could be made.

"However, during 1926, as we did in 1925, we will review as many of these inequalities as the time given to the board will permit. The board will welcome any and all information on valuations from the city of Chicago, board of education or any other group or individuals."

F. X. BUSCH DEFENDS GEORGE E. BRENNAN FROM ALBERT ATTACK

Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch jumped into the Albert-Brennan imbroglio yesterday. Ald. Albert (48d), Deneen-Lundin candidate for sanitary district trustee, mentioned Mr. Busch in his wholesale criticism of George E. Brennan, Democratic boss, and his political associates.

"There has been only one defalcation by a bonded employee in the city hall since April 17, 1923, when William E. Dever became mayor," Mr. Busch said. "That was a defalcation by Daniel Lynch, a clerk in the city controller's office. He had been bonded by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company. Within 24 hours a claim for $5,000, the full amount of the bond, was made. Within ten days of the date the claim was made it had been paid in full by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company.

"There was a different story in connection with a claim made by the city against the Southern Surety company, that favorite of Fred Lundin, Ald. Albert's present political bed-fellow. This was in connection with the theft of funds by Henry Wulff, a deputy in the city collector's office. The Southern Surety company resisted the claim and the city brought suit. Recently the Appellate court affirmed a judgment in favor of the city for $91,000."

HARVESTER CO. BANDITS KILL PAL-BETRAYER

Traitor Shot to Death as He Sleeps in Home.

Heved to have engineered from their cells the murder of Lafferty.

Six major crimes, including a murder and four robberies in which a total of $171,460 was stolen and never recovered, were definitely charged by more than twenty witnesses against White, whose greatest jobs have been pulled since he was eased out of Joliet penitentiary on a parole.

Linked to Drovers' Bank Holdup.

The latest crime fastened on White was the holdup of a money car of the Drovers National bank last Nov. 24, in which five bandits in an automobile drove up to the bank car, forced its driver to stop, shot Policeman Patrick O'Shea, who was guarding it, and escaped with $57,760.

A 14 year old boy, Sam Diddia, 3815 Normal avenue, who witnessed the holdup, picked White from a dozen prisoners and said he led the quintet of bandits.

There was plenty of trouble too, for White's pal, Thomas Shupe, another paroled ex-convict, who was arrested shortly after White was taken.

Shupe was identified positively by Charles Miller, 2216 Cullerton street, as one of the gang of men who held up the International Harvester company plant at 2600 West 21st street, on March 5, escaping with an $80,000 pay roll.

Named West McHenry Robbers.

Both White and Shupe have been pointed out by witnesses as members of the gang of four men who on Oct. 4, 1925, robbed the West McHenry State bank of $19,000. For nearly a month the four men lived in a cottage near the bank, according to Berger Anderson of McHenry, who accuses White and Shupe. One of the other two robbers, Anderson declared, was James Johnson, who was killed in a battle with Forest Park police.

It was that battle that resulted in the murder of Edward Ptasna, a policeman. Deputy Stege obtained a mitimus from the coroner's office charging White with Ptasna's murder, and will lodge him in the county jail, without bond, on Friday.

Pointed Out by Theater Cashier.

Three witnesses picked White out and said they were certain he was the lone bandit who held up the cashier of the McVicker's theater on New Year's day, escaping with $13,000. The cashier, Edgar J. Doob of Oak Park, said he could not be mistaken.

The sixth crime charged against

White was the sticking of the Wayman & Murphy company, 170 North Sangamon street, on Feb. 21, when a $1,700 pay roll was taken. A mechanic, H. L. Arneson, said White was one of the bandits.

An attempt to frustrate further identifications by the filing of habeas corpus writs for both men was prevented by Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Byrne, who prevailed on Judge Charles A. Williams and William M. O'Connell to grant forty-eight hours delay while the investigations are being completed.

PET DOG BRINGS $700 GOWN; $4,000 A YEAR EXPENSE

New York, March 24.—(Special.)—The most pampered and petted passenger among the 383 arriving on board the liner Olympic today was a black and tan terrier named Francis, the favorite of six dogs owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams of 15 East 88th street.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams purposely made a trip to Paris to get Francis fitted out with a new wardrobe at a cost of $700. Mrs. Williams said it costs $4,000 a year for Francis's expenses.

N. U. WOMAN DEAN GETS 140 POWDER PUFFS; 'S'NOUGH

Enough is plenty, says Mrs. Winifred Richardson, dean of women at Northwestern university, and if she receives any more powder puffs, really she'll have too many. Her count yesterday was 140 of the dainty things.

It's all because she encountered a purse snatcher Feb. 10 and the newspapers reported the occurrence. Her reported loss was $6 in cash, two concert tickets, and a powder puff. Of course, she immediately bought another puff, but that didn't prevent her friends from doing their part.

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need). Apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

KEEP FAMILY FIT WITH NEW FOOD

New Oats is even better health protector than oats

Women everywhere are welcoming eagerly a new help they have found in their task of keeping the family fit and healthy through the dangers of winter. This new discovery is New Oats, a marvelous new hot cereal which combines the most delicious flavor with matchless body-building and health-protecting qualities.

This wonderful new food is a blend of oats and wheat. It has a marvelous new flavor—a flavor that keeps the goodness of both grains, yet has a tempting, appealing taste of its own. On the other hand, the valuable food elements it contains make New Oats a real health food. It is the first improvement on oat foods in fifty years. An ideal breakfast for children.

New Oats comes ready cooked. All you need do is heat it three minutes in boiling water before serving. It never gets the mushy, gluey body of ordinary oatmeal. Always light, melting, perfect in texture. All grocers sell New Oats. Try a package today.

The circulation of The Saturday Evening Post is the most complete single-handed national coverage that can be had today.

The growth of the national market is related to growth in population and wealth.

The opportunity to affect that market is related to the growth of popular intelligence and periodical reading.

Unerringly keeping pace with these conditions goes the growth of The Saturday Evening Post circulation.

It has always been our policy and intent not only to have The Saturday Evening Post represent an adequate national market for a manufacturer, but also to have its circulation parallel his best market.

This healthy expansion in circulation gives the advertiser a greater opportunity at a smaller cost than ever before.

POLICE QUESTION CO-ED'S SUITORS ABOUT SHOOTING

Rivals for the affections of Miss Polly Paul, 2707 Kimbark avenue, nineteen year old senior at the University of Chicago, last night were being questioned by the Wabash avenue police in an effort to clear up the mysterious shooting of John Van Zant, graduate, and director of the university's radio department, as he stepped with the girl from a cab in front of her door early in the morning.

The bullet, fired by one of two men who apparently had been waiting for the couple, grazed Van Zant's forehead.

Hemphill to visit another young woman, Miss Wood.

"Hemphill left about 9 o'clock and he didn't come back," Hajcek said. Then he admitted the truth of Miss Paul's story of his visit, which was as follows:

"He was angry with me and left about 11 o'clock. He wanted to kiss me and he got angry when I told him that my hospitality did not include kisses."

Miss Paul said that about 11:45 Tuesday evening Van Zant telephoned her from his studio at 617 Rush street and asked her to come to see him, and that she then took a cab and went.

Van Zant said the two men attacked them as they stepped from the cab. He said he grappled with them, believing it an attempt at holdup, and that one then shot him. Miss Paul corroborated his story.

5 SLAYINGS NOW LAID TO HAND OF LEADER BY GANG

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—

Richard Reese Whittemore, the bandit leader who drove his self-styled "mob" with fear of death, is wanted for five murders in three states—New York, New Jersey, and Maryland.

All this is in addition to leading his men in robberies approximating a million dollars in little more than a year, indictments for which already have been returned.

Whittemore and Leon Kraemer, one of his partners, were identified today as two of the gang that killed George Clifford and Charles Yarrington, bank messengers, as they started to carry two bags containing $123,000 from an armored car into a bank in the heart of Buffalo's business section. The gang escaped with $93,000.

And another murder—that of Simon Gilden, shot to death and found propped against the wall of the yard of Trinity church on Dec. 22 last—was charged against Whittemore today by William Unkelback, a disgruntled member of the "mob" who said Whittemore threatened to kill any gangster not liking the way he ran things.

Gilden was killed because he did not install in line Kelliebo said, and another man, Tony Langello, in Newark, N. J., was killed similarly, he said. And the state of Maryland is trying to take Whittemore back to Baltimore for the murder of a prison guard. The Club Chante, where Whittemore and his gangsters were wont to foregather nightly with folk of society and the stage, was destroyed by a mysterious fire early today. A thorough investigation into the causes of the blaze has been ordered.

"If you ever come to love another woman more than you love me, all I ask is that you tell me. Promise!"

"Of course, I promise, but there won't be any other woman for me! I wish you wouldn't take these things so lightly, dear."

Brave and honest little Ann Dalton! She meant every word of it the day she became Ann Maxwell. She craved no other love than that which big, handsome Tony showered on her. His eyes, his thoughts and his whole soul were hers. In every truth they were soul-mates and helpmates for five long blissful years.

Although Tony's salary was inadequate, during the first three years, to give Ann the little luxuries and pleasures she had been accustomed to she did not complain. She bravely washed and ironed and did housework. She dropped out of her old social circle rather than bring any unfavorable reflection on Tony.

Tony worked as he had never worked before. He became a success. For the last two years pinching economies had become no longer necessary. Ann and Tony could go where they wanted to and do all the nice little things they enjoyed. For both, marriage was no longer an experiment, it was a success. Until—

Suddenly into this blissful modern Garden of Eden came the serpent. Beautiful, clever, greedy, conscienceless, relentless Betty Banning—an old schoolmate of Tony's—stealthily glided in. Steadily she stifled his sense of honor and claimed him. Drunk with his infatuation, he was helpless.

Brave little Ann was distraught. Bitterly she recalled her rash words: "If you ever come to love another woman more than you love me, all I ask is that you tell me." They terrified her now. She did not want Tony to tell her any such thing. But she expected it any day.

Then came the burglar—the compromising situation—the white-hot jealousy of Tony! But read "In the Dead of Night" which is complete in April issue of "True Romances." Tremble with loyal Ann Maxwell as she looks into the muzzle of a revolver relentlessly aimed at her. Enjoy the breath-taking thrills of a climax that no mere fiction writer would dream of. It will make your blood tingle. Here is a tragic chapter, a true story that makes fiction seem pale and insipid.

"In the Dead of Night" is only one of a dozen true stories, that fill the April issue of "True Romances"—that stand as warnings and guide posts to heedless, careless, rash young manhood and young womanhood. They tell what wrecked many a home throughout this broad land, how words and moments of folly have stained and marred life—how constancy and courage and faith have won glorious victories.

Every Story In "True Romances" Is True

In "True Romances" every story is a special feature—the intimate and boldly drawn picture of some man or some woman whose secret experience can be given to the world only on condition that the author's name will forever remain unknown. These stories are the frank accounts of experiences and adventures of real people in all walks of life. They are told, in plain, simple, direct language and are all the more amazing because they are true. Only the authors' names are masked.

When you read the April issue of "True Romances" you will feel the thrill of life which pulses through every sentence. You will, for the moment, live amid the joy and happiness and the despondency and despair experienced by these unknown authors. ## 'STOLEN' TAYLOR MURDER BRIEFS FOUND INTACT

Mystery Dissolved by Los Angeles Lawyer Here.

Numerous rumors were denied here yesterday by District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles and his assistant, Harold L. Davis, concerning the investigation into the murder four years ago of William Desmond Taylor, Hollywood film director. The investigation is now supposed to be centered in Chicago, but there were no authentic developments here, so far as the public was concerned. However, Los Angeles dispatches last night stated that two new witnesses had been questioned there as a result of Prosecutor Keyes' trip east.

The latest sensational rumor was that a brief case containing numerous important information bearing upon the Taylor murder mystery had been stolen from Mr. Keyes' room in the La Salle hotel. Davis subsequently denied that any of the evidence had disappeared or that he had been inconvenienced in any way by thieves. The report was based on a hint that agents of a newspaper had taken the brief case, had made photographic copies of the contents, and then returned it, thus quieting the hue and cry. All this, however, Mr. Davis also denied.

Brief Case Is Safe.
"My brief case is intact and has not been stolen," said Mr. Davis yesterday afternoon. "I do not know who started the story, but I have the brief case in my room right now."
Mr. Keyes took a day off from his investigation to go to Traverse City, Mich., to visit with his mother, according to Davis. He is expected to return this morning and he and his assistant will then start for Kansas City, it is said.

The jaunt of the western district attorney on his investigation of the old murder mystery started at New York and has included stops at Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, and finally Chicago. Before his arrival it was rumored that Mr. Keyes would seek assistance from State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe in locating important evidence in Chicago.

Inspects Chicago Courts.
Soon after his arrival in Chicago Tuesday Attorney Keyes sought out Prosecutor Crowe in the Hotel Sherman and after a chat with him about methods of prosecution went to the Criminal Court building and conferred with George E. Gorman, first assistant prosecutor. Mr. Gorman showed the Los Angeles attorney through the Criminal courts and explained the local methods of prosecution.

"Not a word of the Taylor murder case has been mentioned to me," said Prosecutor Gorman. State's Attorney Crowe made a similar statement. A prominent real estate operator and a well known actor, not hitherto connected with the Taylor case, were reported as having been questioned in Los Angeles. Authorities there refused to disclose their names.

Mabel Normand, film actress, said yesterday that she had "answered more than a million questions" about the Taylor case, and she refused to reply to any more queries concerning the report that Keyes would question her on his return to the coast. Los Angeles officials said she was to be questioned only concerning matters of minor importance and that she had long since been exonerated of any connection with the case.

MEDILL LECTURE TONIGHT.
Rollo Walter Brown, Boston author and lecturer, will speak on "Creative Authority and the American Public" at the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University, 31 West Lake street, tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The lecture, which is the first in the laboratory series to be given in the second semester, is open to the public.

TUBERCULIN TEST FUND CUT MEETS WITH OPPOSITION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Senators McKinley (Rep., Ill.) and Lenroot (Wis.) announced tonight that they would lead a fight against the reduction of appropriations for the elimination of bovine tuberculosis, as proposed in the conference committee report submitted to the senate and the house today.

After several days of discussion, during which a deadlock was threatened a number of times, it was learned today a majority of the conference committee agreed to recommend that instead of allotting a total of $4,000,000 for the eradication work, as passed in the senate appropriations for the department of agriculture, the amount should be cut to $4,455,000. The new figure is $550,000 more than was voted by the house for the same purpose.

Of the $4,455,000 under the conference committee's report, $3,678,000 would be made available for the payment of indemnities to owners whose infected cattle were slaughtered, instead of $5,025,000 as voted by the senate, and $3,128,000 as voted by the house.

COLORED GIRL SHOTS MAN.
James Hill, colored, 32 years old, was shot and dangerously wounded by Ellen E. Brown, also colored, 35 years old, 58 East Thirty-sixth place.

FLEXIBLE TARIFF LAW REPEAL IS URGED BY PAGE

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Repeal of the flexible tariff was advocated before the special senate investigating committee today by Thomas Walker Page, former chairman of the tariff commission.

The system of adjusting duties by executive action on the recommendation of the tariff commission has proved a failure, Mr. Page said, and congress should have sole authority to fix rates as formerly. Mr. Page, who is an economist, was appointed on the commission by President Wilson in 1919 and served until 1922. Although a Democrat, he was chairman of the commission during the first year of the Harding administration, resigning at the time the 1922 tariff act was passed. One of the reasons for his resignation, he said, was an unwillingness to attempt to administer the flexible tariff system, which he believed to be unworkable.

GUILTY MURDER IS UNSOLVED.
An open verdict was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Frank Gully, 35, of 1445 North Luna avenue, who was shot to death on March 6 by two unidentified men. The Austin police said they believed the killing was the result of a feud that originated in Gully's native country, Italy.

THE LAST WORD

CHRYSLER Imperial "80" was the fruit of a conviction that the last word had not been spoken in fine car manufacture. It is an invitation to you to be dissatisfied with the conventional and the commonplace. It has sought to extract new riches of convenience and comfort out of a long established engineering principle. It has wrested from the old elements of power and speed a new obedience. Its six cylinders—its 92 horse-power—its 80 miles an hour—its long-lived, enduring quality—these are merely indexes and symbols of riding and driving results unique in motoring.

WOMAN'S PLEAS FOR LOVE READ AT BALM TRIAL

Letters to Dr. Enslinger Filled with Kisses.

BY RUTH RUSSELL.

Into the "trial of a thousand letters" in Judge Hurley's court, where Miss Marie Grischa, 1507 North Dearborn parkway, is suing Dr. Leonard Enslinger of Indianapolis for $50,000 for failure to marry her, were introduced for the first time yesterday afternoon the letters she wrote in answer to her lover's 400 impassioned love notes.

In a hard, cynical voice, Royal Irwin, Enslinger's attorney, slowly and carefully read thirty-three of the 400 and more letters written by the girl, which graduate up the scale from mere friendly answers to the physician's eternal devotion. And when he came to the end of each letter, the attorney paused significantly.

"What do X's mean?" he read and peered questioningly over his glasses at the plaintiff. Just what do crosses at the end of a letter signify, he wanted to know. Marie insisted that kisses were implied in the symbols.

At intervals during the hearing of her heart through the pink faintly scented manuscript, Marie sobbed into her handkerchief while the tears streamed down her cheeks, despite Judge Hurley's warning against a weeping plaintiff. And the present Mrs. Enslinger, sitting a few seats in the rear, observed the tears, and gave vent to a few well chosen sniffs.

"Dearest," recited the attorney reading Exhibit No. 16, "I received your precious note today. I have been at our new apartment all day, fixing it up. I am thinking of you all the time and go about as light as a bird regardless of my 186 pounds avoirdupois."

Dec. 1, 1921: "Dearest, if I could fall into a good position in New York while you are there I would come down there to you. Writing is the least I can do to repay your wonderful kindness to me. Dearest, I cannot sleep for thinking of you. Your caresses of the last night together still linger about me so I cannot sleep. But if you were here I could sleep. I know. God give us more wonderful hours together like those."

Then the letters became less frequent and she wrote to chide him. "Where are you?" I have received nothing for a whole week.

In July, 1922, when they went to California together, Marie was content just to be with him, waiting for him to choose the wedding day, until she found this telegram in his pocket in Seattle: "Beloved Leonard, all your letters received. I'm missing you very much. Be glad when you get back, but have a good time. Lots of love. CORA."

It was then Marie discovered his treachery, she declared, and wanted her return trip ticket.

If Marie has her way, each of the four hundred letters she received and answered, which were to break her heart, is going to cost Dr. Enslinger just $125 a letter.

REFUSES PLEAS FROM ILLINOIS TO SPARE SLAYERS

Atlanta, Ga., March 24.—(AP)—Gov. Walker today declined to commute the sentence of Ted L. Coggeshall, Clayton, Ill., and Floyd McClelland, Brockton, N. Y., to life imprisonment.

They are to die in the electric chair tomorrow at Milledgeville for the murder a year ago of Prof. W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam county schools.

Pics from Illinois Falls.
Quincy, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—A petition containing 30,000 names of citizens of Quincy and Clayton, Ill., the latter the home town of Ted L. Coggeshall, was sent to Gov. Clifford Walker of Georgia recently in an effort to have the sentence of Coggeshall and his pal, Floyd W. McClelland of Brockton, N. Y., commuted to life imprisonment.

The parents of Coggeshall made repeated efforts to have the sentence commuted.

SUES STUTZ FOR ALIENATION; ASKS $50,000 DAMAGES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24.—(Special)—Asking $50,000 damages and alleging alienation of the affections of his former wife, now Mrs. Harry C. Stutz, Herbert J. Miller, former assistant manager of the Indianapolis Athletic club, filed suit today in Superior court against Harry C. Stutz, president of the H. C. S. Taxicab company, now at Orlando, Fla.

A similar suit has been filed in the federal court at Tampa, Fla., and Floyd Matlock, attorney for Miller, said that a similar suit may be filed in the federal court here.

He said more than one suit was filed in order to obtain service on the defendant, who, he believes, claims Florida as his home.

The Millers were married July 31, 1919, according to the complaint, and separated March 25, 1924. Stutz was divorced from his first wife Sept. 1, 1925, and married Mrs. Miller Dec. 25, 1925, the complaint asserts.

12,500,000 Ask Confiscation of Kaiser's Property

BERLIN, March 24.—(AP)—Approximately 12,500,000 German voters, according to an official preliminary estimate, have signed petitions demanding submission to the reichstag of a bill providing for confiscation without compensation of the properties of Germany's former ruling families.

This is $5,000,000 more than necessary to compel the reichstag to vote on such a measure.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

EARLY CON ACTION LIKE GULF WATER

Washington, D. C., Mar. 24.—Increased chances of completing the river link of the lakes at this session is seen from agreements reached between advocates of the project and proponents of American canal route.

With a warning by the committee that no will be given to an omnibus bill, the session is expected to be a busy one. The chief sponsor of the project, consented to ask client appropriation for the New York canal project the same time he declared his opposition to inclusion in a bill of provisions for version of at least 4,167 into the Chicago canal drainage canal.

Representative Madden, chairman of the house committee, and W. E. Hall, who have been leading the lakes to gulf waterway project, when and if permanent engineering can be persuaded to agree, influence a number of senators.

BELIEVE TIL IS TO REW DIVORCED

Friends of Edward Tilden were surprised last night a marriage license had been issued to a "Jew" believed to be Mr. Tilden from whom he was divorced last month.

Mr. Tilden could not neither his attorney, nor Mrs. Tilden's attorney, Theodore, had heard that intended a remarriage.

last Mrs. Tilden testified prior Judge Joseph Salsbery forced to leave her husband of his drunken conduct and her. She refused alimony.

Tilden is president of Tilden Securities company of William A. Tilden, pianist. His three men ended in divorce. His charged infidelity and the accused him of cruelty.

EARLY CONGRESS ACTION LIKELY ON GULF WATERWAY

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Increased chance of congress action on the Illinois waterway bill at this session is seen in the compromise agreements reached today between advocates of the midwestern project and proponents of the all-American canal route through New York.

With a warning by the house steering committee that no consideration will be given to an omnibus bill authorizing both schemes, Representative Dempsey (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the rivers and harbors committee and chief sponsor of the all-American project, consented to ask only a sufficient appropriation for a survey of the New York canal possibilities. At the same time he declared he would not oppose inclusion in the forthcoming bill of provisions legalizing the diversion of at least 4,167 feet of water into the Chicago sanitary district drainage canal.

BELIEVE TILDEN IS TO REWED 3D DIVORCED WIFE

Friends of Edward Tilden, broker, were surprised last night to learn that a marriage license had been issued in his name to marry a "Jean Simpson," believed to be Mr. Tilden's third wife, from whom he was divorced only a month ago.

Mr. Tilden could not be found. Neither his attorney, R. F. Locke, nor Mrs. Tilden's attorney, Edward R. Debevoise, had heard that the couple intended a remarriage. On Feb. 23 last Mrs. Tilden testified before Superior Judge Joseph Salath that she was forced to leave her husband because of his drunken conduct and cruelty to her. She refused alimony.

Tilden is president of the Edward Tilden Securities company and the son of William A. Tilden, pioneer Chicago financier. His three marriages all ended in divorce. His first wife charged infidelity and the two others accused him of cruelty.

CANADA URGED TO PRESS FIGHT ON CHICAGO'S CANAL

Ottawa, Ont., March 24.—[Parliament.]—Increased today to a condemnation of the diversion of international waters through the Chicago drainage canal. Discussing a resolution calling on the government to take "immediate and drastic action through the British government to enforce the boundary waters treaty of 1909 and to collect damages from the United States for breaches of the treaty."

Arthur Meighen, leader of the conservative opposition, said that he did not think the matter had reached a stage where the government should call upon Great Britain. He did not believe in "waiting in the ante-rooms of the Supreme court of the United States to see what it would do," but thought the matter should be referred to the international joint commission on waterways.

Promises had been given that by 1935 Chicago would have established compensating works that would reduce the diversion from the great lakes.

"What we want is not compensation, but the water back in the lakes," Mr. Meighen said.

Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, said Chicago's proposed compensating works would not restore to Canada's waterways the six inch loss caused by Chicago's withdrawal of water.

Root, tried his arm over the regulation nine round route today and found it in good working order. With speed as his chief stock in trade, he fairly bowled over the Mission gang, allowing six hits, and mean-while McCarthy's Cubs were able to swing their bats with enough vigor to attain a 3 to 1 exhibition tri-umph and thus deny the "Prisco bugs" another opportunity to snicker at the club's in-ability to win in general and the Chi-cagos in particular.

Due to what appeared to be some steady hurling from the wings of Christian and Eckert, the Cubs weren't as active in the hit column as on the previous day. They totaled only eight safe hits, all made off Christian.

Heathcote Gets Two Hits.
Heathcote made sure that nobody is going to remove him from his left field employment by plating a double to left and a single to right. His two batters in the first inning was converted into a run when Munson slammed a timely single to center. Freigau also hit safely in this chapter and Grimm walked to populate the corners, but in the crisis, Shannon fled feebly to the outfield.

Heathcote's single was the initial incident of the third inning and the two was cashed in at the plate. The propelling factor was a hard liner to left for one base off Freigau's bat. The third and last of the Cubs' tallies happened in the sixth and Hack Wil-son was the instigator. He opened the inning with a one base smash, took two more sacks on an error and liked home with ease on a robust two-bagger that Munson crashed against the wall in left field.

Adams Handles 11 Chances.
The best thing about the Cubs was their actions in the field. Every one of them had at least one opportunity to show the natives something in the shape of a catch, a scoop or a throw. This was especially true of the prodigy Sparky Adams who handled eleven chances around second base.

Root was in such fine fettle that he was in distress only a couple times. The Cubs will vary their program to-morrow by going across the bay to play the Oakland team, of which Hack Miller is a member. Hack is so fat he hasn't been able to perform this spring, but he has hopes.

Hagen Wins
West Coast
Golf Title

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Walter Hagen won the west coast open golf tournament here today over his home course, the Pasadena Country club, with a score of 70-73-69-71-52.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta, the national amateur champion, came second, two strokes behind Hagen, with rounds of 73-69-71-70-285.

AMATEUR SETS RECORD

St. Augustine, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Frank Thompson, Toronto, with a 69, set a new amateur course record here today, when he eliminated Roy Culver, Fort Jervis, N. Y., 6 and 5 in the first round of the Florida amateur golf tournament.

Thompson's card included an eagle on the 53d yard fifteen hole he hit two long shots and from just off the green sank his approach shot.

His second round opponent to-morrow will be Edward Guggenheimer, New York, who defeated Neil Smith, Palm Beach, on the nineteenth green.

Other scores today: Kenneth M. Reed, Sarasota, N. Y., 69; Tom Shackford, Chicago, 4 and 1.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Texarkana, Ark., March 24.—(Special).—In one of those sloppy rambling ball games that usually occur at least once on a spring training trip, a bunch of White Sox performers got the long end of a big 14 to 10 score today against the Texarkana Grays.

The Sox, who have been in the lead of the East Texas league, in a band-box park and on a scraped and loose diamond, the affair was a free hitting contest that seemed to please all concerned.

Many hits on each side would have been easy outs on a regulation field, and some of the ground hits bounced so badly that it was fortunate none of the athletes were not hit in vulnerable places. Boas Collins himself sat hidden on the bench, regardless of cries for his appearance. He took no chances in injury a leg in the crumbly footing of the field.

Leverett, Carroll Hit Hard.
Dixie Leverett and young Jim Carroll did the pitching for the Sox and the locals nipped them for a total of fifteen blows, making seven of them off Leverett in four innings. Even then, Dixie looked pretty good. At least three of the seven blows were flukes, though a couple of them were genuine drives for extra bases.

Young Mr. Carroll had his fast ball operating nicely again and did snappy hurling in all but one inning, the eighth, when a wild throw by Bill Hunsfield started him off in a hole and four blows followed, permitting four runs to come over before he could get the side out. There are some hitters on the local team. Young Holman, turned back by the Cubs, played at third base and appeared to be one of the weak sticklers of the bunch.

Crouse a Slugger.
It was a rather mixed team that Collins used. When the game ended there were only two fellows of last year's squad in the game, Crouse and Kamm. However, Sheely started at first and Falk began the battle in left field, with Harris in center. After a few innings young Veltman went to center. Guley was in right all the way, with Hunsfield at short and Morhart at second. McCurdy relieved Sheely at first.

The stick work of Buck Crouse was an outstanding feature. He was up five times and punched out four singles and one homer.

While this squad was trailing up here and back today, Ray Schalk was detailed to take command of those remaining in Shreveport and send them over the regular training jumps.

Only Miracle Will Keep Pirates from Another Title

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
San Francisco, Cal., March 24.—(Special).—Pick the team that can show the Pirates a clean pair of heels, and you'll have the National league pennant winner for 1926.

But no man in his right mind would even attempt to find such a team and if he did look he'd undoubtedly be disappointed, because the present world's champions are the class of the league by at least 15 games and they are going to step into their second successive flag unless they beat themselves, and they won't do that.

Pittsburgh is a powerful club, mainly because of its secondary strength. Its reserves alone are stronger than many of the men holding regular positions on half the teams in the two majors, and when a team has power on the bench it can keep right on traveling its normal gait even when its most valuable units are laid up for repairs.

Will Pitchers Hold Up?
About the only way to find a flaw with the McKechnie titleholders is to dissect the hurling corps. There is just a bare possibility of that perilous department springing a leak at an unexpected time, but even such a happening might not cause any real embarrassment because the only two teams in the league liable to give the champs a run appear even weaker in the same branch of the profession.

The other two possibilities are the Giants and the Cardinals. Had the hurling by what little the new Pirates hurlers have displayed during the spring drilling on the coast, McKechnie will have to rely solely on those who made last year a banner one financially for Barney Dreyfuss. That means Vic Aldridge, Lee Meadows, Ray Kremer, Johnny Morrison, and Emil Yde for the heavy work.

It would seem at this time that Dreyfuss didn't throw away the $100,000 that he turned over to the Frisco club for Outfielder Paul Waner and Infielder Harold Rhyne. The former battered over 400 and the latter around 350 in the coast circuit, and when surrounded by such sticklers as Wright, Cuyler, Barnhardt, Tanager, and others they are going to be able to hold up their particular portion of the job.

Carey Still Ill.
When Rhyne was purchased it was figured that he would be tendered the second sack job in place of Moore, but the latter is holding on and not weakening. Thus the Pirate infield is going to be the same as last year, with Grant-ham and McInnis alternating at first base, Moore at second, Wright at short, and Traylor, third.

The Cuyler, Carey, Barnhardt outfield combination is doubtful because of the physical condition of the veteran Carey. He came into camp two weeks late and lacking much of his usual weight as the result of an attack of flu.

In the event of Carey failing to recover in time McKechnie will move Cuyler from left into center. As a fly chaser and hitter he needs no advance notice. The left field vacancy would be filled by Waner or Carson Bigbee.

There is another thing that has to be considered and that is the presence of Fred Clark, former manager and now assistant to President Dreyfuss. Clark is with the team constantly, but takes no part apparently in the actual management of the champs on the field. His value lies in the fact that he can handle men.

Stribling and Slattery to Settle Ring Score Tonight
New York, March 24.—(Special).—A return battle that has been pending for two years will be fought tomorrow night when Young Stribling, the Atlanta light heavyweight, climbs through the ropes of the Madison Square Garden ring to square accounts with Jimmy Slattery, the Buffalo youngster.

The bout, scheduled for ten rounds, will feature a card which will mark the temporary retirement of the boxing game in favor of the circus at Tex Rickard's arena until May 7. Because of this and the fact that the match itself promises to develop into one of the most spectacular bouts of the season, almost a complete sell out is reported, and it is expected a crowd of close to 15,000 will jam the Garden to see these two shifty boxers in action.

Slattery Victor in 1924.
Back in 1924, on Feb. 25, Slattery and Stribling met in Buffalo. Both were under the age limit at that time and the bout was restricted to six rounds. Slattery won the decision and a return match has been hanging fire ever since.

For Stribling the fight will be more than a chance to settle an old score. Actually it will be one of the most important in his career. One bout that already stands clinched for him if he wins is a meeting with Gene Tunney. This match collapsed in Miami a few days ago, but Rickard has announced his readiness to stage the fight here in the event that Stribling triumphs over Slattery.

Stribling will enter the ring tomorrow night a favorite in the betting, although it is generally expected that today's odds will be shortened considerably by the time the fighters climb through the ropes.

CHICAGO TEAMS SHOW WAY TO
A. B. C. PINMEN
Toledo, O., March 24.—(Special).—Two Chicago teams not only headed the pin klicking expeditions in the A. B. C. tournament here tonight, but proved the only outfits able to master the wood for a 2,500 series.

Wildmaires knocked off a 2,861, starting with 924, following with 943, and ending with 994.

NORTH SHORE B'S, RIDING CLUB B'S
WIN INDOOR POLOBY DON MAXWELL.
[Sports Editor.]

The season of golf is just around the corner. There's a feeling in the air that tells us it is so. Tomorrow Krum, who works at playing golf, convinced us by beginning one of his golf stories, "A tree is a beautiful thing."

What's that? we asked. "Golf poetry," he said.

Some historian of the passing days will devote a chapter to the game of golf in these United States. The game's growth is remarkable enough to make the chapter interesting.

The first golf clubs were formed in the Chicago area in the early '90s. And for twenty years the game grew, but grew slowly. In the last 10 years the germ of the links malady has multiplied with such rapidity that the Chicagoans this summer will be playing over 136 courses.

Golfers, like Gaul, are of three divisions. There are (1) the young fellows who are lured into practicing swings and perfecting putts by the knowledge that professional golf is one of the best paying businesses open to young men.

There are (2) the men and women who play the game because of the fun it gives them. It is a sporting game, and the wonder of a birdie, the thrill of a match won are things worth while.

In the third class are the folks who find in the game a path to health. Yearly the path becomes more crowded.

We've written enough. A few lines more and, like Morrow Krum, we will be singing a rhapsody to a tree.

Kid Norfolk was once a great fighter. And he's a poor one now. Grown old and half blind, he was tossed out of the ring at San Francisco a few days ago in the middle of the fourth round and the decision given Ted Moore, a young Englishman. The Kid couldn't and wouldn't fight.

The passing years have a way of their own in forcing fighters to take the count. And even champions who remain idle may find their force.

Chicago isn't the only city where sportsmen are victims of the sport palace bug. Rival promoters in Washington, D. C., announce plans for two enterprises, each calling for the expenditure of $1,000,000 in the building of athletic centers. One is to be called the Capital Square Garden; the other will be known as the Madison Square Garden of Washington.

Cauliflower ears, battered faces, broken noses are to be removed from ring sport. Mike Gately, who instructs West Point cadets in boxing, tells to all who care to hear that he has invented rubber boxing gloves which may be inflated. Jack Dempsey has stipulated that Harry Wills wear these rubber gloves in their Chicago fight. The gloves aren't the only things about the fight that is inflated.

Bowling is a noble pastime, but the sports writer who covers a bowling congress and tries to write a story of dramatic incident will wake up some fine spring day in a padded cell.

Indians, Braves Clash Over Use of Resin Ball
Lakeland, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Rather than disappoint the crowd assembled to see today's game here between the Boston Braves and the Cleveland Indians, Manager Spunker conceded the use of a resin bag to the National league team, though protesting to the officials of that club that it was not sanctioned by American league rules.

The game was delayed an hour as a result of the dispute. Umpire Wills of the National league also declared that he would not officiate unless the use of the resin bag was permitted by the Boston players.

Hargrave, Reds' Catcher,
Stricken with Appendicitis
Cincinnati, O., March 24.—(AP)—Bubba Hargrave, first catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, was stricken with an attack of appendicitis tonight, according to a special dispatch from St. Petersburg, Fla. A second examination to-morrow will determine whether an operation will be necessary at this time.

Portland Defeats New York
in Deciding Hockey Battle
New York, March 24.—(U. N.)—The Portland [Ore.] Rosebuds won the third and deciding game of the inter-sectional post-season hockey series in Madison Square Garden tonight, defeating the New York Americans, 4-2, on May 1.

Helen Victor by Default; Packs Up for 2 Weeks' Trip
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
CANNES, France, March 24.—Helen Wills packed up today and is ready to start a two weeks' trip tomorrow morning. Her farewell match on the Riviera, scheduled for this morning, against Joan Ridley, was called off after Miss Ridley smashed the fingers of her right hand in a slamming automobile door. Thus Miss Wills won the match by default.

CHICAGO GOLFER
QUALIFIES 2D
IN BILOXI PLAY
Biloxi, Miss., March 24.—(AP)—Fred Lamprophet of New Orleans, national intercollegiate champion, shot a 73 here today to win medalist honors in the qualifying round of the men's division of the annual Gulf States Golf tournament. Don Hamilton, Chicago, and Bob Gormley, Ocean Springs, Miss., tied for second place with cards of 77.

Orrin Williams, Biloxi, Miss., champion, was fourth with 79. Match play in the men's division will start tomorrow.

Interest in the first round of match play in the women's division today was centered in the match between Mrs. C. O. Young of Chicago, present champion, and Mrs. N. H. Squires of Sioux Falls, S. D., which was won seven up and six to go by the title holder, Miss Marion Turpin of New Orleans, a favorite, won from Mrs. R. O. Kennard, St. Louis, seven up and five to play.

Hargrave, Reds' Catcher,
Stricken with Appendicitis
Cincinnati, O., March 24.—(AP)—Bubba Hargrave, first catcher of the Cincinnati Reds, was stricken with an attack of appendicitis tonight, according to a special dispatch from St. Petersburg, Fla. A second examination to-morrow will determine whether an operation will be necessary at this time.

JOCKEYS AND OWNERS FACE STERN ACTIONOrigin and Details of Fraud Bared.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Besides the four jockeys, two owners, and a trainer ruled off the turf for life by the Kentucky racing commission last week, from fifteen to twenty prominent Kentucky turf characters will be missing when the spring season opens at Lexington on April 24.

It is unlikely that formal action will be taken against any of them, but their applications for riding and the owners' and training licenses will be tossed into a pigeon hole. They will be denied all privileges, including admittance to tracks in Kentucky.

This is learned from a man high up in Kentucky racing affairs. He was one of the first to urge the appointment of Steward S. C. Nickols as head of the investigation committee which brought to light the operation of the turf crooks in Kentucky.

Began at Ohio Track.
While confessions show that the jockey-owner ring was responsible for countrywide betting cleanups on five fabled races run at Latonia and two races run at Lexington last fall, it has been learned that the Coney Island track at Cincinnati, which operated for sixty days last summer, was the scene of the formation of the crooked ring.

It was there that it operated so successfully that some of the most widely known riders, owners, and trainers in the country moved over into Kentucky after the Coney Island meeting closed and continued their operations there.

Kentucky has no authority to probe or make rulings on anything that happened at Coney Island, but expects to protect the good name of racing in its own state, the authority for this story is that if there was a way to bring to light all the crooked races run at Coney Island it would probably be discovered that scores of them were run at that track.

More Jockeys Named.
It has been learned that the biggest cleanup at Coney Island was slippy late in July when the horse Cyclops won at odds of more than 20 to 1. Dick and Pete Williams, ruled off the turf for life by the Kentucky commission last Saturday and said to have been in charge of the Coney Island jockey ring, were reported to have won more than $200,000 on the race.

Willie Frank, Willie Taylor, Earl Pool, and E. Scoble are some of the jockeys mentioned who are not likely to receive licenses who pry their turf trade in Kentucky this season. And if they are not granted licenses in Kentucky it will be impossible for them to get licenses on any recognized track in the country or Europe. Other jockeys may also be involved.

Great secrecy surrounds the investigation which is still in progress on the operations of the different owners and trainers, who are believed to be the real higher ups.

Millionaires, men of great political influence and others not so prominent have been involved in the scandal. Great political pressure has been brought to bear in some instances, but as the scandal continued to grow it got beyond the bounds of political pull.

BARRETT PACKS FISTIC T. N. T. IN HIS RIGHT MITT

Hits Harder than Dempsey, Manager Says.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
Bobby Barrett is the hardest right hand puncher I have ever seen, not excepting Jack Dempsey.

"This was the statement made yesterday by Jimmy Dougherty, manager of Barrett who meets Shuffie Callahan of Chicago Heights in the windup of the Mullen's boxing show at East Chicago tomorrow night. This is a broad assertion for anyone to make especially Dougherty who has been identified with boxing for the last twenty-five years and who has officiated as referee in important matches.

Waits for Chances.

"Barrett is not a swinger or hooker," Dougherty went on to say, "he simply keeps his right hand cocked to let go the moment he sees the opportunity."

"I have seen Dempsey hit opponents with straight rights and right hooks but they did not go down. I have seen Jack Delaney and Paul Berenbach do the same thing, but the power was not there to upset their men. Barrett has the drive behind the punch and if he gets a good smack at Mr. Callahan's jaw in the first second of the opening round, it will be good night for Shuffie."

Dougherty claims his fighter is the logical opponent for Walker. Nearly two years ago, Barrett and Walker met in Philadelphia over the six round route. Mickey nailed Bobby before he hardly was off the chair at the start of the bout and had him nearly out at the end of the round. The bell saved Bobby. In the fourth round Barrett knocked Walker down for the seventh count and was giving him a lacing at the end of the mill.

Mullen Guards Both Men.

Promoter Mullen refused to permit either fighter to box yesterday. As both are in excellent shape, the promoter did not care to take any chances of either fighter injuring his hands or receiving cuts or bruises in training bouts.

Other fighters on the bill came through the final boxing drills without injury and the card will stand as advertised.

HARADA REACHES ORMOND BEACH TENNIS FINALS

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—Takeshi Harada, Japanese, advanced to the finals of the annual Halifax county tennis tournament here today when he eliminated Fred Baggs, New York, 6-0, 6-4.

Harada's opponent in the finals will be determined tomorrow when George O'Connell, Chicago, meets Howard Voshell, Kew Gardens, L. I., in the other semi-final match. O'Connell today defeated John Pykers, Jacksonville, 6-2, 6-4, to reach the semi-final round.

De Shone K. O.'s Brown

in Bout at Fort Sheridan

De Shone of Selfridge field knocked out Brown of the Great Lakes Naval Training station in the second round of the feature bout of the boxing program held in connection with the Sixth corps area championship meet at Fort Sheridan last night. Fall of Fort Sheridan threw Dill of Chanute field with a body blow and half Nelson in 7:35 in the mat feature.

Western Amateur 18.2 Cue

Title Tourney Opens Today

With five cueists entered, the annual western amateur 18.2 balking championship tournament will get under way at Mussey's Madison street room today. Percy N. Collins, former national champion, and James Peabody, former state champion, will represent Chicago. Games will be played daily at 1, 3, 7:30 and 9 p. m. The finals will be played Saturday.

GARDINI-ZBYSZKO MAT TILT TOPS CARD TONIGHT

Grudge Battle to Decide Supremacy.

Whladek Zbyszko, Polish heavyweight, and Renato Gardini, the Italian grappler who has met every leading mat artist in the heavyweight division, including Joe Stecher and Ed Lewis, will take holds in the windup of the wrestling show at the Ashland Boulevard Auditorium tonight. It will be a finish match, best two in three falls, starting at 10 o'clock.

Both are strong and know some of the best holds in the game. They met in the same hall during the early winter and at the end of a grueling match honors were about even. Neither gained a fall in nearly an hour of actual wrestling.

Hans Steinke, the Teutonic giant.

and Ivan Podubny, the Russian, will be the principals in the one fall windup. Frank Judson, former wrestling instructor at Harvard university, will meet Joe Komar in one of the preliminaries, and Giuseppe Massetti, another Italian heavyweight, will oppose George Hill of Wisconsin, the other. The first bout will start at 8:15.

John Frank of Omaha yesterday was matched to meet Paul Martin in one of the feature bouts at the Star and Garter tomorrow night. Renato Gardini and Mike Romano at the Dreamland arena, a young Pole of considerable experience, will be one of the main attractions in the finish match between Johnny Mervin and Lee Humbles for the world's middleweight championship.

Signed articles and a certified check for $1,000 were received yesterday by Promoter Harmon from Paul Bower, manager of Joe Maiewicz, to bind the finish match with Mike Romano at the Dreamland arena, a young Pole of considerable experience, will be one of the main attractions in the finish match between Johnny Mervin and Lee Humbles for the world's middleweight championship.

Tony Hadlick, the popular northwest side middleweight, has been added to the mat card at the Broadway armory Monday night. Tony has been matched with Pete Zupke, a young Pole of considerable experience, who will be one of the main attractions in the finish match between Johnny Mervin and Lee Humbles for the world's middleweight championship.

Safety Group Starts Drive to End Noise

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Imagine Chicago with its automobile horns restricted, its elevated wheels noiseless, its riveters muffled, and the clatter removed from its street cars, old clothes choristers removed from its alleys and racket removed from its progress! It's a queer thought, but not at all impossible of accomplishment, according to members of the American Society of Safety Engineers, who have launched a country-wide effort to stop noise.

Preliminary plans for the anti-noise crusade were announced yesterday by E. W. Mowers, chairman of the committee appointed by the society and the engineering section of the National Safety council to study all phases of unnecessary noise making. The committee will concentrate at once on the din made in cities by cars and tracks of elevated lines underground and surface corporations, unnecessary noise made by automobiles and trucks, and other nerve wracking irritations of modern urban life. Physicians, psychologists, and psychiatrists will be invited to serve on the special committee, and use will be made of instruments to measure the harmful effect of noise.

TINKERS RULING BRAINS OFF GRID, SAYS N. U. COACH

Thistlethwaite Raps New Safety Play.

Glenn Thistlethwaite, Northwestern football coach, looks upon the recent ruling in regard to the safety play in football as another step toward "legislating the brains out of football."

Coach Thistlethwaite believes that the international safety in the Northwestern-Michigan game and the publicity given it were the causes for the change in the rule.

He pointed out that the safety rule had existed for a number of years, but there had been no objection to it until it was responsible for the defeat of Michigan. He justified the use of the safety in that game because it helped equalize the advantage of the strong wind, which aided Michigan punters.

In regard to the penalties for incomplete passes the Northwestern coach said he thought the new rules would hurt the game more from the spectators' viewpoint than from the teams'.

ZUPPKE EXPLAINS CHANGES

Champaign, Ill., March 24.—(Special.)—Bob Zuppke is against the changed forward pass rule, but he is the first coach in the country to put into effect. He took his two teams, which have been practicing for a month and are fairly well drilled, explained the new rule and watched practical demonstration for three fifteen minute quarters.

Here is the result of the test: Team No. 1 used eleven passes and were penalized four times. Team No. 2 used six passes and were penalized twice.

"This experiment demonstrated that one of the chief evils of the rule will be the increased activity of the referee," said Coach Zuppke. "In our practice game the referee was the most conspicuous figure on the field."

LITTLE NOT WORRIED

Madison, Wis., March 24.—(Special.)—Football teams that use the forward pass effectively will have little to fear from the new rule providing penalty for incomplete passes, George Little, director of athletics and head coach at the University of Wisconsin, said today.

INGRAM SEES LONG PASSES

Annapolis, Md., March 24.—(Special.)—That the new rule penalizing missed forward passes would have little effect upon that play is the belief of Bill Ingram, who is head coach of the naval academy football team.

Ingram stated his opinion that the new rule would have the effect of making the coaches give more time to perfecting the play and also that many long passes would be attempted.

With the song of the first robin Krenn & Dato Opens for Sale Section B of Devonshire Manor

Sale Begins Sunday, March 28th

ANOTHER great event in Chicago's Real Estate History. Another great opportunity for every Chicagoan to make an investment of unusual merit.

On Sunday, March 28th, we open for sale Section B of Devonshire Manor. Section A is now sold out. The many shrewd investors who bought in Section A are already beginning to profit by the increased land values here.

And an even greater rise in values is imminent—for Devonshire Manor stands alone and unparalleled as the best Real Estate offering in Chicago today. No other property in or around Chicago has such great development possibilities. No other property is so highly restricted, so strategically located.

Bounded by Dempster Street, Cicero Avenue and Niles Center Road—two full section line streets and a diagonal—Devonshire Manor is the very hub of a 40-mile area of intense growth and activity. It is the key property to the tremendous development of Chicago's greater and better North Side. It is the very heart of Chicago's fastest growing section and will soon outstrip the city's most sensational Real Estate developments in growth and profit possibilities.

Transportation too, at Devonshire Manor is of metropolitan standard. (1) The Dempster Street "L" Terminal is only one and one-half blocks west of the property and its many trains bring you to the loop in 39 minutes. (2) The Chicago & Northwestern Railway is just across the street and connects Devonshire Manor with Chicago and the entire North Shore. And Chicago & North Shore electric trains serve you here as in the loop.

And now with the coming of Spring, Krenn & Dato is expending $1,000,000 for improvements. Paving, Curbing, Water, Sewer, Electricity, Gas, Stubs, Trees and Shrubbery will be put in and paid for by Krenn & Dato.

No assessments will be made for these improvements.

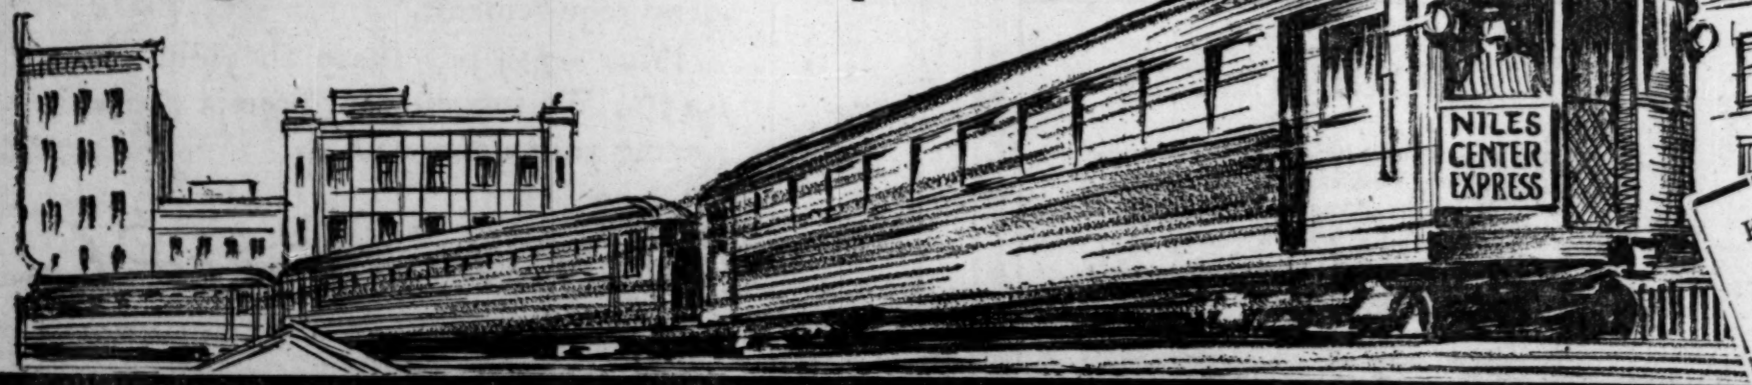

Right now, then, is the logical time to buy in Devonshire Manor. The opening of Section B gives you a new opportunity to get in on the ground floor of this great investment. Grasp it now! For it gives you another chance to buy here and reap the profits of the rapidly rising values. Make arrangements now to come to Devonshire Manor Sunday. Set that day aside for an outing to this beautiful property. It will be like spending a day at a park. Come and see this fine golf course turned into an exclusive apartment district. Inspect this fine development for yourself. Only then will you appreciate its beauty and tremendous profit possibilities. In the meantime, let us send you the interesting and free particulars about Devonshire Manor. The coupon below will bring them to you. Mail it to us now. It does not obligate you to buy and will put you in touch with a lifetime opportunity.

The Adopted Wife

By Amelie Rives
(Princess Troubadour)

Celia Gibbs is left an orphan by the death of her father, who bequeaths her to the care and charity of Hilary Fraser, one of his few friends. Hilary's sister, Laura Everham, takes her into her home to live. Two years later Laura dies and Hilary is greatly distressed as to what to do about Celia. A young Russian sculptor proposes to her, but she refuses his offer and Hilary, in desperation, proposes to her himself in order that she may live in his home with propriety. Celia is happy in the arrangement until she over-hears some gossip about herself and her "white marriage." She learns for the first time that her father had left her penniless. Hilary goes to Europe and Celia decides to get herself a job. She applies to Abe Sieburg of the Sieburg theater, who agrees to take her on as a fancy dancing girl. She gives up her job the day before Hilary is due back in the country. She tells him of her adventure, and greatly to her surprise, he is amused by it. Celia becomes restless at the inactivity of the life she leads in Hilary's house. She meets a young musician, Padraic O'Shea, who is greatly attracted to her.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII
THE SPOTLESS LILLY.

There was about Celia a something so rarely virgin, in these days of semi-virgins, that even Mr. Abe Sieburg had felt it without having succeeded in defining it.

"You feel she ain't the usual sort of dame, high brow or low brow," he had told Mr. Alf Goldstein when he was impressing it on that gentleman, "not to let no guy get fresh with her at the theater." There's something about her—something a—

He had searched his small vocabulary for a fitting term, but his favorite "matrimonial" did not suit here.

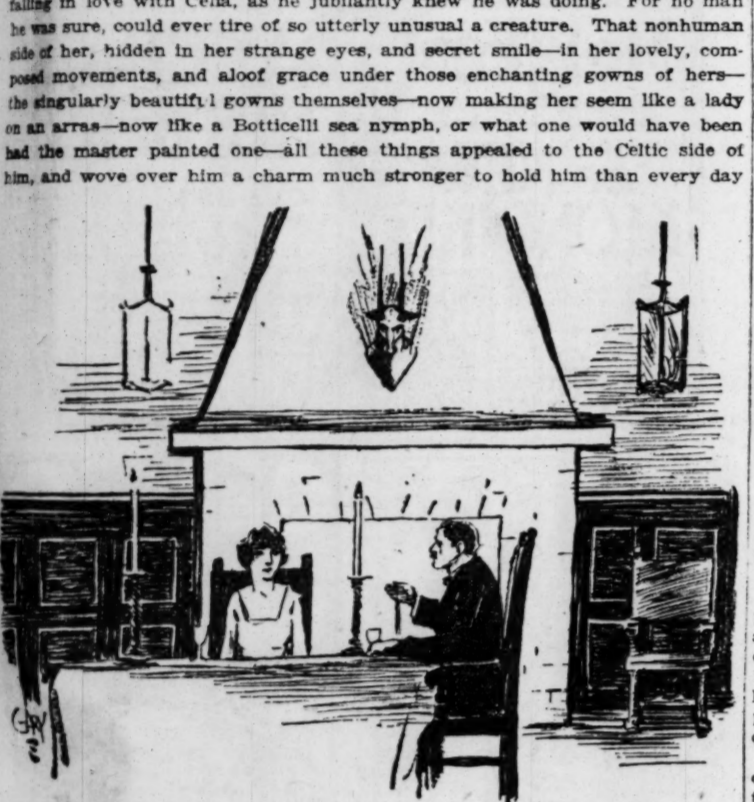

"Something that a squab had ought to be and ain't," he had wound up.

"I get you," Mr. Goldstein had responded. He liked Celia as they all did, and respected her, though he would have scorned to express it in any way.

"A spotless lily in my garden blew," he sang by way of further explanation.

"That's it," said Mr. Abe. "One of them calla ones. A nice kid has the same thing," he supplemented, fearing that he had been soft to admit Celia's likeness to a lily.

This, only in a less hackneyed way, is what Padraic also felt. But what drew him most, what had real magic for him, was the belief in the mystery of her unavailability. It was like falling in love with a mermaid, to be falling in love with Celia, as he jubilantly knew he was doing. For no man was sure, could ever tire of so utterly unusual a creature. That nonhuman side of her, hidden in her strange eyes, and secret smile—in her lovely, composed movements, and aloof grace under those enchanting gowns of hers—the singularly beautiful gowns themselves—now making her seem like a lady on an armoir—now like a Botticelli sea nymph, or what one would have been had the master painted one—all these things appealed to the Celtic side of him, and wove over him a charm much stronger to hold him than every day passion would have been; for Padraic, "not meaning any harm," had loved a good many women, until they loved him too much in return, and so choked his love with what it fed on. He had not wrecked any lives in the ordinary meaning of that phrase—only grown cold in the clasp that held him—so cold that it was like clasping a corpse.

Nonresistance in such instances is all powerful. What woman, however impassioned or determined, could have a poor corpse to the altar? No one so sorry for these coolings off as Padraic. He had even shed tears over them, and had written, when in the throes of regret caused by them, some of his most moving music.

But this was wholly different, just as Celia was wholly different. Besides he wasn't a fatuous ass. . . he couldn't be certain that Celia would awaken for him. That doubt added another strand of magic to the web.

He said now, in reply to her muted "No. . ."

"Well, it will be very wonderful when you do love some lucky mortal, Melusine."

"I don't believe I ever shall."

Padraic said nothing. It was not the time to speak nor the place. He could not imagine making love to mortal or immortal at the battery.

He sprang up, his mood changed, exclaiming in his most boyish voice:

"Let's go lean over a wall and look at the water. I'd like to take you out on a little boat. . . that would be gorgeously bourgeois, but I'm afraid you might dive into your native element and leave me forever."

"Not into this dirty water," said Celia with repulsion, and again he began to laugh scornfully.

"O Melusine, Melusine!" he cried, "your appearance is that of a water witch, but your words are at times those of a kid!"

Celia smiled as he walked beside him.

"I suppose," he said, "that the reason we like so much to be together, is because we're so different."

Padraic had his sudden sobersides.

"Perhaps we're more alike than you think—perhaps you'll know it . . . someday."

His look and tone were again queer. Celia felt all at once happy, just because they were queer. She walked silently beside him toward the water, pondering this in her heart.

That evening as she and Hilary had no engagement, they dined alone together. His boyish look of the morning was quite gone, his hair, no longer wet and rumpled had assumed again its appearance of a thick, black wave cap. The little spray of silver on his left temple, together with his monocle and correct evening dress, made him resemble some distinguished public person, she thought, an ambassador or savant.

"It's very nice to see you there opposite me again," he said, smiling at her in his kind way.

"I had a dreary luncheon all alone, though of course," he hastened to add, "for fear she should infer some reproach, 'I was delighted to know what fun you were having.'"

Celia had an extraordinary memory for the little things people said, that indicated character, and often clashed with later assertions on their part. She recalled now that Hilary had once remarked what a mistake he thought it on the part of Lucullus to have had even one other person at his rare repasts, as the custom of eating in company was really a barbarism. Her reflection ran that it was very kind of Hilary to tell this, and feign a loneliness that he couldn't possibly have felt merely to give her pleasure. Were she to die suddenly or disappear for good, she was sure that he would be very sorry for her sake, but on a moderately for his own. Perhaps if he had been nearer her age, she would have been different. . . She saw him again in his white canvas fencing clothes, and yet, ruffled hair, and wondered what he had been like when he was young. As to that, he had looked much younger that morning, and had acted and spoken too, more like a younger man.

"You always say such kind things to me," she now murmured, then with apparent irrelevancy:

"I do wish you didn't have to wear a monocle."

Hilary laughed.

"I don't have to wear one," he said, "it was a boyish affectation, and somehow grew into a habit. You must have noticed that I wink it off when I really want to see. If you like I won't wear it again."

And he took off the monocle and laid it on the table beside him.

Celia felt her cheeks growing warm.

"I'm afraid that was very disrespectful of me," she said, "I'm sorry."

"My dear girl!" exclaimed Hilary rather vexed. "You do have the oddest notions. . . respectful! . . . By what unhappy blunder of word or deed, have I ever given you the idea that I wanted you to be respectful to me?"

"After all," he went on, "I'm not the Ancient Mariner. . . Forty-four doesn't require deferential respect from twenty-two."

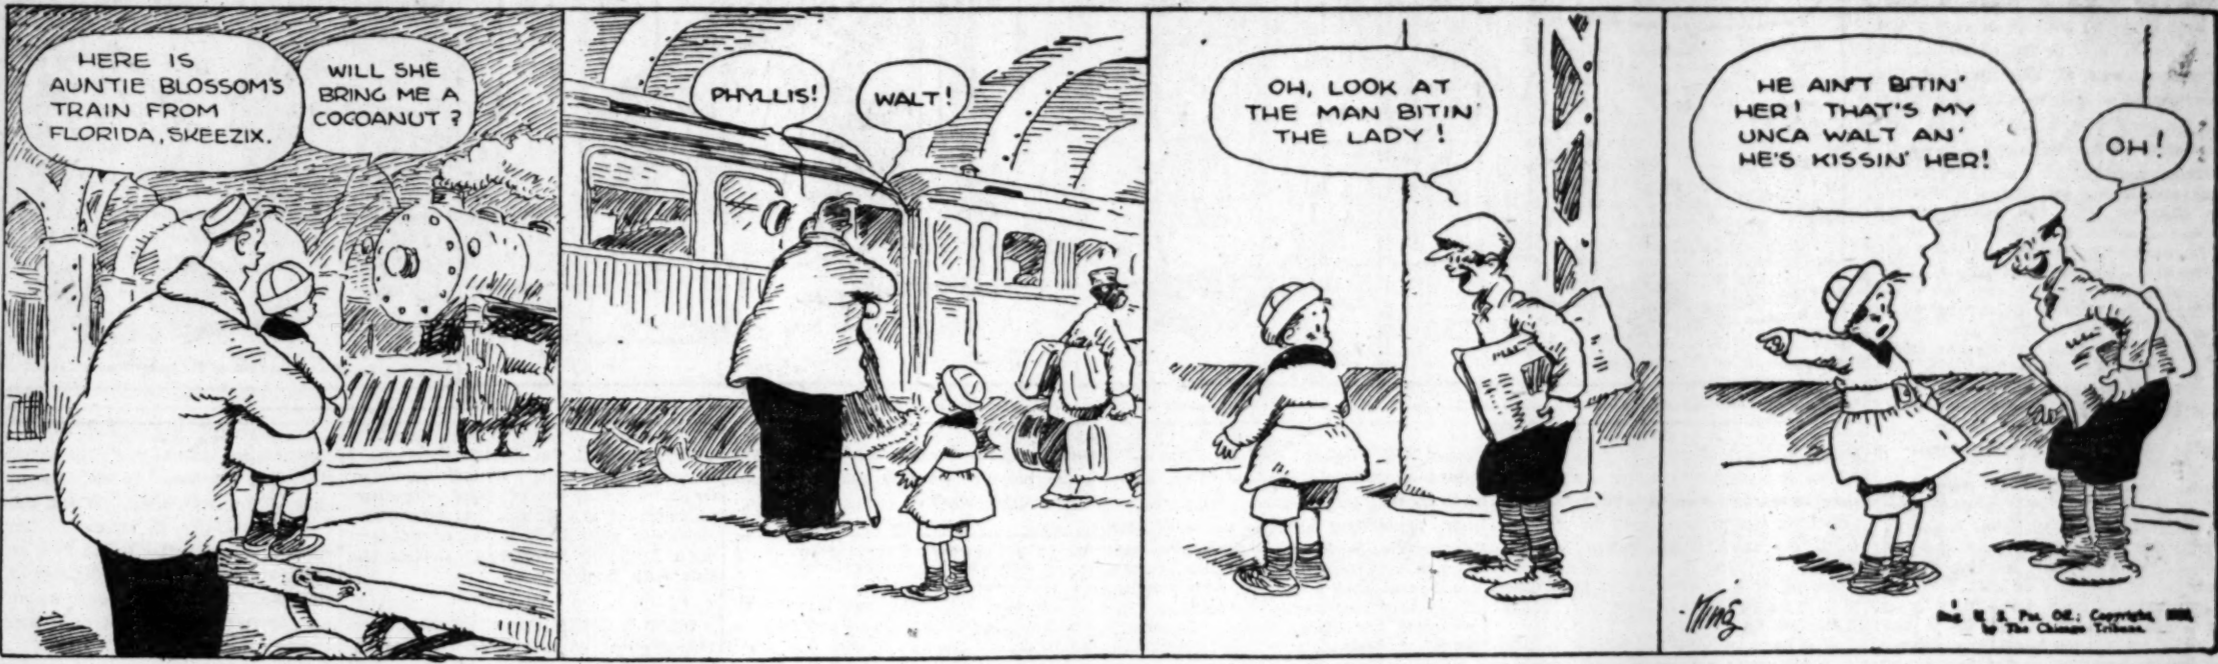

"Perhaps," replied Celia, "I ought to have said impertinent instead of respectful. It was taking a liberty. I had no right to make such a personal remark."

There was nothing to do but laugh, so Hilary laughed again.

"Why, you queer child, don't you know it flatters me very much to have you take an interest in my personal beauty?" he said lightly.

By this Celia replied with her air of considering seriousness:

"You aren't beautiful, but you are very distinguished looking. It's a pity for a man it is." She broke off, continuing hurriedly: "For a man like you to look distinguished than beautiful!"

Good morning!
Want to see a nice, homey, cozy bright little picture."The Dixie Merchant" is it!
The principal character is J. P. Phipps [J. P. to his friend] who has a horse, Marcellaine—and a wife and daughter. The wife and daughter are named last because, though dearly loved by J. P., their existence is completely forgotten by him when any questions regarding Marcellaine arise.He's so busy figuring out what he'll do with the BIG MONEY he expects to win when the horse is old enough to enter the races, that little things such as making a living or attending to the mortgage on the old homestead worry him not at all. A lovable, maddening, absent-minded horsey. Mr.
Micawber—J. P.—always waiting for something to turn up.The mortgage is foreclosed and the three are compelled to pile on a wagon and take up a gypsy life. Something turns up, however, that lands them on the estate of a wealthy racing man who—Has an only son, who—well, J. P., has an only daughter, you know. . .But don't think you can guess all about what happens. You can't. . .
you'd better take in the picture if you're around in the neighborhood where it's showing.It's a genuinely pleasing little production with everything doing good work and Mr. MacDonald—who was such a bear in "The Iron Horse"—remember?—endeavoring himself more to you with every minute of his characterization of Phipps—dod gad J.

Paulsen Epitomizes
His Career in Program of Own Compositions

BY EDWARD MOORE.

In the process of conducting an entire program of his own works at Orchestra hall last night, P. Paulsen Paulsen displayed something of the length and a good deal of the breadth of his career as a composer. A fairly elaborate program it was, containing three numbers played by seventy members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, a "Concerto Oceanic" for violin and Audrey Call as the soloist, a Fantasy for piano and orchestra played by Georgia Kober, and a Lenten cantata, "Love Triumphant," sung by Helen Protheroe Textell, Carl Craven, Paul Bai and Kai de Vernon, soloists, a chorus, and with orchestra and organ as accompaniment.Mr. Paulsen is prolific of brief, attractive melodic ideas, and he knows his way around musical forms and the orchestra. Generally he is contented to put his faith in the harmonic structure and orchestral treatment, and a number of years ago, though in the piano Fantasy he permitted himself to indulge quite a bit in some of the modern habits of speech. It apparently was a good deal to Miss Kober's liking, for she made a brilliant and applause bringing display piece out of it, and was greeted with great enthusiasm.The brevity of Mr. Paulsen's tuneful themes is at once their strength and their weakness. It depends a good deal on how he uses them. The first piece, "Moment Musical," was something of a cacophony in character, and pleasant though not strikingly Spanish. Similarly the "Four Oriental Sketches" fell agreeably on the ear, though not strikingly oriental.In a more extended work, however, he showed the symphonic power. His cantata, "Love Triumphant," seemed to be a bit of confusion of terms between length and continuance. The two are not the same, and this was true, though to a less extent, of the violin concerto.George Cooper, who for a long time has been one of the screen's really dependable hack comedians—pretty sure to be funny in almost any role—has been signed for a featured part in First National's "Pals First." He will be seen as "The Squirrel"—"a dangerous yet lovable underworld habi-tue."And, speaking of comedies, Hal Roach has signed Mabel Normand to make one feature for his series of star comedies released by Pathé.
Theda Bara, Lionel Barrymore, Claude Gillingwater, Ethel Clayton, and others have also, you know, obliged Mr.
Roach.We are living in a new era, though far from a perfect one.
E. J. Gustafson, 564 West Monroe street, salesman—Mr. Gustafson would be a detriment to society. So is the Volstead act. It is a failure. People who never drank before are drinking now, even making
it at home, and thinking nothing
about it.Contracts for the construction of the new Roosevelt Senior High school, Kimball and Wilson avenues, were awarded to Paschen Bros., the low bidder, at $1,675,000. The school will have 30 classrooms, 36 special rooms, shops, laboratories, two gymnasiums,
a swimming pool, assembly hall, and
a lunchroom. It will be completed by December.Trustees James Mullenbach, Julius
F. Smietanka, and John English were appointed by President Elliott to cooperate with the finance committee of the city council in bringing about an equalization of property valuations for taxing purposes. The committee will meet with the council group today.Dressmaker's Bill Almost Gets Peggy O'Neill in JailLONDON, March 24.—(U.N.)—Peggy
O'Neill, American actress, starting here in "Mercenary Mary," saved her-
dressmaker's bill for $75. Following sentence Tuesday by the Westminster county court of forty-two days' imprisonment unless she paid the bill,
Miss O'Neill sent a check to her dressmaker at once."I was astounded at the court's order," Miss O'Neill said. "I had forgotten I owed the money, and of
immediately. I certainly don't intend to go to jail."An order such as that issued against Miss O'Neill is customary in England
whenever any creditor claims that a debt has been ignored.Luncheon by Kiwanis porter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question H. J. Outley, 4816 Hutchinson avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

In the event of the return of light wines and beer, should they be handled through saloons or through authorized stores?

The Answers.

Eugene C. Schaeck, 1439 Fullerton avenue, market owner
—I believe they should be handled through properly authorized stores. Right now drug stores and illicit dealers are getting the benefit of it. I believe these drinks will come back
—the tendency being that way—and perhaps the sooner the better.Miss Anna Holton, 2339 Cuyler avenue, home girl
—Through saloons. I have five brothers, also my father, and they were not drunkards
during the saloon days.
At that time everybody knew what they were getting. We would be better off with saloons like we used to have than the way it is now.William Dote, 1529 Edgemont avenue, student—Through authorized stores; that's the place for them.
They wouldn't have any trouble then.
There would be no
drinking there, and it wouldn't affect children for any reason. In the event of their coming back, there would be plenty of business.Mrs. James C. Burton, 14 West Erie street, housewife—Authorized stores, I should think, but no more old fashioned saloons of any kind. I am not worrying about my husband or anything like that, but the old saloon has seen its day.We are living in a new era, though far from a perfect one.
E. J. Gustafson, 564 West Monroe street, salesman—Mr. Gustafson would be a detriment to society. So is the Volstead act. It is a failure. People who never drank before are drinking now, even making
it at home, and thinking nothing
about it.Contracts for the construction of the new Roosevelt Senior High school, Kimball and Wilson avenues, were awarded to Paschen Bros., the low bidder, at $1,675,000. The school will have 30 classrooms, 36 special rooms,
shops, laboratories, two gymnasiums,
a swimming pool, assembly hall, and
a lunchroom. It will be completed by December.Trustees James Mullenbach, Julius
F. Smietanka, and John English were appointed by President Elliott to cooperate with the finance committee of the city council in bringing about an equalization of property valuations for taxing purposes. The committee will meet with the council group today.Dressmaker's Bill Almost Gets Peggy O'Neill in JailLONDON, March 24.—(U.N.)—Peggy
O'Neill, American actress, starting here
in "Mercenary Mary," saved herself a jail sentence when she paid a dressmaker's bill for $75. Following sentence Tuesday by the Westminster county court of forty-two days' imprisonment unless she paid the bill,
Miss O'Neill sent a check to her dressmaker at once."I was astounded at the court's order," Miss O'Neill said. "I had forgotten I owed the money, and of course, sent a check to the dressmaker immediately. I certainly don't intend to go to jail."An order such as that issued against Miss O'Neill is customary in England
whenever any creditor claims that a debt has been ignored.Luncheon by Kiwanis Marks Girls' Week TodayUnder the direction of Mrs. B. F.
Langworthy, president of the Woman's City club, girls of Chicago in observation of Girls' week, will celebrate Home day today with a luncheon given for them by the Kiwanis club at the a district superintendent, was elected unanimously an assistant superintend-of education. He will succeed Ambrose

B. Wright, who died a month ago.Mr. Lowry has been in the public school system for thirty-seven years, serving as a high school teacher, an elementary school principal and a district superintendent. He also was an acting superintendent of schools and also a temporary assistant superintendent.The board refused to accept the recommendation of Supt. McAndrew to appoint Jacob H. Hauch, principal of the Lloyd school, a district superintendent, to succeed Mr. Lowry as requested by Trustee J. Lewis Gault, that recommendation was referred to the school administration committee.Supt. McAndrew's recommendation for an additional district superintendent, for which he named Miss Margaret Madden, principal of the Do-little school, also was referred to a committee.A new position in the educational department was created by the board and called director of educational expenditure and economy. That official, under supervision of Mr. Lowry, will have charge of purchasing school sup-written by S. Ansky, a Russian novelist and playwright known the

a time was in concurrent performance in New York in English, in the so-called Yiddish of the East Side, and in Yiddish, in the high-voltage stretch of Broadway. The English version was put on by the Neighborhood Play-

THEATER

John Masefield's "The Tragedy of Nan," not professionally acted in Chicago in the thirteen years since Miss Horniman's company (the Manchester players) gave it in what is now the Playhouse, will be revived tonight in the Goodman Memorial under the direction of Miss Alexandra Carlisle, who will play the sheep-stealer's lovelorn orphan. The other roles have been cast among members of what is called the "regular company" of the theater.Whitford Kane, a good actor who not miscast, is to be a "guest-star" this season in the Goodman Memorial.
He came to Chicago in 1913 to act the rebellious Danny's father in that good performance of "Hindle Wakes" given by imported players in the Playhouse and, later, the Olympic, and while here put on a special performance of an Irish but-piece named "The Drone," whereof he had been the star for a night or two in New York."Top-Hole," a song-and-dance piece mentioned here Tuesday as an impending enticement of post-Lent, is now named "Betty Dear." Richard Dallagher, here in the final month of the run of "Rose-Marie," heads the new cast, which will solicit applause next week in Detroit. The Chicago date is April 11, and the place is the La Salle, where "My Girl" will be held until then.Mr. Gest, Manhattan-bound, took time yesterday in Chicago to say that in Kansas City, Los Angeles, and San-Francisco he had obtained guarantees in sums to a total of more than a million dollars for local performances next season of "The Miracle." The lovely pantomime will be given three weeks in Kansas City, four in Los Angeles, and three in San Francisco. . . . Mr.
Gest added that the performance of "The Miracle" Thursday, April 8, will be "a gala in honor of" Vladimir Nemirovitch-Danchenko, founder of the Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio, whose forthright in Chicago will

Startling Colors Tend to Exaggerate One's Normal Size

A story is told of a rich American woman approaching a celebrated Parisian artist on the subject of colors she should wear. Her figure, as swollen as her purse, was at the hour of the interview enveloped in a dress of startling color. The famous dress connoisseur tried to persuade his prospective customer that quieter colors would bring out better her many undoubted charms. But she would not be persuaded away from her gay loves. She wanted bright colors and the dressmaker would not have her go out of her establishment wearing them. As a live customer, she proved a morning waste to the harassed Frenchman.

"Mon Dieu," he cried as she made her exit, "does the lady not know that when the Creator fashioned the humming bird and the butterfly he made them of brilliant colors, but when he created the elephant he made it taupe?"

Even though the rule that large women should be dressed in inconspicuous colors has been softened somewhat of late years, you still find the best dressed large women buying on the principle of economy of bulk.

Aggressive colors have a way of challenging you to dare deny that your baked potato diet has done a found worth of good by you. Bright colors are aggressive, so aggressive they seem to come toward you. And anything which is near to us seems to be larger than it appears a few feet away. Figures in cool colors have none of this quality, and it dreads in slenderizing lines, they still further minimize their bulk. It is hard to have the soul of a humming bird, though, and be forced to adopt taupes and blacks. But, also, it is hard to be a brunette with gentlemen preferring blondes all over the place. You just have to make the best of the advantages you have within reach, and let it go at that. No woman is getting anywhere, nowadays, increasing her size. She is, however, working herself into the debauchee class by doing everything in her power to decrease it. So why not study color effects upon size?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

T. E. R.: WHERE THE LIPS ARE wrinkled and chapped there is often a condition of inward fever, due to a disturbance of the digestive tract. I would suggest that you look carefully into the condition of your digestion and correct any errors that may exist. Regulate your habits in accordance with hygienic measures. Soften the lips with cold cream.

MISS R.: THE EASIEST WAY TO reduce enlarged pores is by the application of ice after you have finished cleansing the face. It will tone up the skin at the same time. Witch hazel is good, especially if warmed. This is done by placing the bottle in a pan of hot water. It has instructions on the treatment of enlarged pores which you may have for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Maple Fudge.

Maple sugar can be used that the maple flavor does not count, no matter how good or pure that sugar is. But a little caramelized sugar will make a time turn trick, if it is used in experiments we found there were its and and about using it for this purpose.

First we must acknowledge that we sometimes can buy cakes of so-called maple sugar which do not have as their forerunner the boiled down sap of the maple tree. When this is used in recipes calling for maple sugar the product may be good but will lack true maple distinctness, which, in perfection, is comparable in its own way to the perfection of the blossom of the arbutus. But there is genuine bulk maple sugar to be had by purchase. It was much sugar that we recently used in experimenting with a number of maple recipes.

We took for our maple fudge experiment a recipe printed by a late cooking teacher who, she told me privately, got a man from a commercial candy factory to come into her kitchen and teach her something of the art he had acquired in years of work. And after trying the idea in it twice we decided perhaps a little caramelized sugar could be used in other fudges instead of a corn sirup, but we have not proved this.

For the maple fudge we took one pound of maple sugar, one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of milk, two tablespoons of butter. Dissolve the maple sugar in the milk, and let it come to the boiling point without stirring. Caramelize the granulated sugar, add the maple in the milk, and the butter to it, and stir constantly while it is cooking to 240 degrees. Remove from the fire and beat until creamy, or beat like any other fudge. To double the quantity almost, and get a rare perfection, add one cup or more of chopped walnuts.

Self-Sacrificing Mother.

"Isn't there some one who has a discarded spring coat, size 42 or 44, who could send it to a hard working poor woman?" She has been keeping boarders and doing washing to help make a living and send her girl to school. After buying for the rest of the family, there is never anything left for herself. A dress, size 42, and shoes, size 6, are also needed. D. C.

Surely there must be some spring clothing for this mother who gives everything to her family. Help us get for her the things she needs.

Benjamin Behr Puts Horses in Training for Maryland Hunt

Burglary, fleet of foot and high spirits, that peer of horses who stands on a pedestal all his own because he was the first western horse ever to win the coveted Maryland Hunt Cup, is going through a course of equine sprouts in preparation for his second entry in that important steeplechase. He and two other horses, Impatience and Rock Creek, from the stables of his owner, Benjamin Leslie Behr, have been in Maryland since January being trained to enter the three steeplechase events of the spring in the east. That is, one, two, or maybe three will be in each of the races.

The young youngsters are to have the thrills and palpitations accompanying the viewing of the races, as they are to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Behr when they depart for the east on Saturday. They'll all have a week's stay at White Sulphur Springs and then they will go to Washington to stay during the exciting days of April. There will be a round of luncheons and breakfasts and parties going on all during the time of the races, and of course, the Behrs will participate in them, too.

Not content with running the neat little yellow and white cakebox team out in Lake Forest, the energetic Junior leaguers in that community have taken on a new enterprise. They have issued an announcement for the opening today of "The Junior League Agency of Panny Butcher Books." Their inspired ad writer promises that "You will find the latest and most amusing books (both serious and frivolous) as soon as they are published. And we can order for you any book, however old or rare, which we have not on our shelves. Give yourself a trip to the city and help the work of the Junior league by buying your books through us."

The young people who are in charge of the dance at the Casino on Friday night, April 9, for the benefit of the Lower North Community council, are going to no end of bother to make the affair what in current slang would be a wow. Sarane Otis, who has proved her executive ability and tenacity of purpose in many instances, has been put at the head of the supper committee. She is "planning something starting in the way of entertainment."

The White Elephant Rummage sale today will have besides its pieces and scraps, a cross-stitch sampler made in 1925, an old Italian vase, a carved Italian marble ferny, three antique Spanish chairs, and some gowns which date back to 1830. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and her committee are to act as saleswomen.

The general committee of the Women's World's Fair will meet at a 1 o'clock luncheon today at the Casino to talk over final arrangements for the fair, which is to open on April 17. Miss Helen Bennett, managing director, is to speak.

The second to the last of this winter's Thursday morning reading classes will meet this morning at the residence of Miss Marion Smith of 62 East Elm street.

Mrs. George C. Moseley and Mrs. Edward D. McDougal of Geneva, Ill., returned from a sojourn at Palm Beach, are to set off on Saturday for a stay in New York and Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Walker of 220 East Walton place are at Atlantic City for a week. They plan to remain over Palm Sunday.

Mrs. George Hilleck Taylor of 59 East Division street has returned from a lengthy stay in the east. Mr. Taylor joined her in New York City and accompanied her on her return.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 24.—President and Mrs. Coolidge have been their guest for a few days at the White House former Gov. Cox of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will join his daughter, Miss Ailsa Mellon, in New York tomorrow and, accompanied by his son, Paul Mellon, who is a student at Yale, will sail Saturday for a ten day trip to Bermuda.

The British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard returned this morning from a week's visit in Chicago. The ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard will go to Baltimore tomorrow to be guests at the dinner in celebration of the founding of Maryland March 25, 1634. Gov. Ritchie of Maryland and the ambassador will make addresses.

Miss Julia Mattis is making a fortnight's visit in the south and will join her uncle, Senator William B. McKinley, the middle of next week.

Mrs. A. A. McNamee and Mrs. Percy Sadler of Fort Sheridan, Ill., are the guests at luncheon today of Mrs. James E. Alexander. Mrs. McNamee and Col. McNamee are at Fort Myer, Va., and Mrs. Sadler is visiting her father, John L. Smith, in his home at Tracy place.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Bride Meets the Best Man Informally

Miss Gladys Spry and Wheaton Augur Wed in Home Service

It isn't often that a bride and groom have eight nieces and nephews to attend them at their wedding. Miss Gladys Spry, daughter of John C. Spry of Evanston, and Wheaton Augur, son of Mrs. Walter Wheaton Augur of 1225 North State street, who were quietly married yesterday afternoon at Mr. Spry's residence, had that number of young attendants, however.

The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Morris K. Wilson of Winnetka were bridesmaids, and their sisters, Eleanor and Leslie, Eleanor and Rollin Keyes, the Rollin Keyes' children, and the Robert Orrs, Nancy and Adair, were ribbon stretchers. Mrs. Gerald M. Butler of Winnetka was Miss Spry's matron of honor, and Newell Augur was best man for his brother.

Mr. Spry's illness necessitated a small wedding, those present being members of the families and close friends. The bride wore white satin trimmed with filmy lace, and Mrs. Butler wore a gown of lavender shade. Mr. Augur and his bride are to reside in Evanston after a honeymoon in the south.

Marion Renwick Moseley is to be married on Saturday afternoon to Dr. Stewart Braisted Sniffen, son of Dr. D. Austin Sniffen of White Plains, N. Y., at the Moseley residence in Highland Park. The service is to be read at 4:30 o'clock by Dr. Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador and the Rev. Frank Pitt of the Presbyterian church of Highland Park. Only intimate friends and relatives are to be present.

Mrs. George C. Moseley and Mrs. Edward D. McDougal of Geneva, Ill., returned from a sojourn at Palm Beach, are to set off on Saturday for a stay in New York and Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Walker of 220 East Walton place are at Atlantic City for a week. They plan to remain over Palm Sunday.

Mrs. George Hilleck Taylor of 59 East Division street has returned from a lengthy stay in the east. Mr. Taylor joined her in New York City and accompanied her on her return.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Miss Adrienne Margaretta Iselin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Columbus O'Donnell Iselin of 3 West 53d street, will be married to Dudley Pierpont Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierpont H. Gilbert, on April 20 at the home of her parents.

Mrs. Walter T. Owen of 10 Beech Tree terrace, Bronxville, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Owen, to Charles H. Sarsola, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sarsola of Edinburgh, Scotland. The wedding will take place in May.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ward Olney of Square Avenue, Convent, N. J., and Mrs. Orton Porter Jackson, wife of Capt. Jackson of the United States naval station, Newport, R. I., are at Atlantic City at the Ritz-Carlton hotel for over Palm Sunday.

I was graduated from high school in a rather large class. We were having one of the unenviable affairs—a parent. The director was a petite and peppery little woman.

One afternoon, after a particularly warm trade, she stamped out of the room in disgust. Being a classmate, I immediately arose and proposed that if we were to suffer daily insults from an Amazon I moved that we strike.

Noting the hush that suddenly fell over the room, I instinctively gazed back over my shoulder, and there in the aisle stood the teacher—an attentive audience of one.

Shirred Skirt Adds Novelty to This Jumper

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There are really no lengths to which we will not go in our jumpers. Comparatively short ones are still in good repute, but even more impressive from the standpoint of novelty are those which ramble on like an elderly belle recounting her past triumphs.

Today we show a two-piece street creation of black tulle which doesn't do anything radical about its jumper save border it with brilliant embroidery in red and yellow. No, but just see what novelty it imparts to this garment by a skirt which is shirred in front! You may recall we have mentioned previously the popularity of shirring in the new skirts. Even so, it is impossible to avoid repeating that the shirred skirt is one of the beloved spring fancies of many French designers, including the notable Chanel, herself.

This smart little frock is set off with collar and cuffs of white pliqué, a fact that recalls the vogue of the lingerie finish in many late spring offerings. As for black, it has returned to us emphatically and even the evening gowns show an impressive array of the familiar tone.

But now as to these extremely long jumpers. Nearly all of them are belted in self-material and, although some blouse all the way around above the belt, others focus their fullness directly in the back. One of the newest materials for these two-piece frocks is a checked crepe de chine of fine quality and it is this fabric which is used by Brandt in one of his most stunning jumper creations.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Auntie Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Bobby had often heard his father say that car ride easier when the back seat was loaded down. One day as I came from my house out to the curb where my large sedan was parked, Bobby hurried up to me and said in an anxious tone, "Don't you think you better take me along to hold your back seat down so you will ride easy?"

I took his thirty-five pounds along and we rode easy.

Billy, aged 3, who had suffered a badly cut finger, was watching his mother dress the new baby in their home.

After several minutes of interested inspection he remarked, "Why, mother, you wrap her up and wrap her up just like a sore finger, don't you?"

FISHING FOR COMPLIMENTS

Some little girls are fond of fishing—I mean that they are always wishing To get a Compliment, and striving To make you praise them—and contriving In every way to be admired. It's Goops like that that make me tired!

HIGH IDEALS
are important in the woman are seeking because her work is of an exceptional nature and demands the best that is in her. You will be pleased when you secure complete details and learn that you can earn such a satisfactory income in such an interesting and worth-while manner. Earnestness and sincerity of purpose are also important qualifications, in-since this work requires application and regular hours;
it is permanent and holds forth a real future. If you

WANTED-FEMALE HELP.

ANY YOUNG WOMAN SHOULD BE PLEASED TO WORK FOR

is desirous of securing several young women for work of a dignified character in the advertising department.
Previous experience is not necessary, as we give each employee a thorough and simple time to make good.

This is the kind of an organization that should appeal strongly to college women between 23 and 25 years of age. The department provides a substantial and high grade in every respect.

To qualify you should possess a pleasant personality, be well educated, conscientious, and enjoy interesting work.

Write us a letter, giving your age, education, telephone number, whether you are married or single, and your
